Profile

Mission Statement

The mission of University of the Cumberlands is to provide a quality, affordable education to students from all backgrounds through broad-based academics. The institution is grounded in Christian principles and leadership through service.

Vision

The vision of University of the Cumberlands is to be a university of distinction that encourages professional and intellectual growth in a student focused community.
To do so, Cumberlands will:

1. Ensure access to underserved student populations.
2. Pursue excellence in teaching and learning.
3. Foster faith in action through a student focused community.
4. Innovate to improve student learning outcomes and career preparedness.

History

In 1888, a group of Baptist Ministers founded a small college in Kentucky known as the Williamsburg Institute, for the purpose of preparing young adults for lives as servant leaders. In 1913, following the acquisition of Highland College, Cumberland College was born. The school became University of the Cumberlands in 2005.

Undaunted by wars, economic depressions, social unrest and natural disasters, University of the Cumberlands has continuously served students primarily, but not exclusively, from the beautiful Appalachian Mountain regions of Kentucky, Tennessee, West Virginia, Virginia, Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Ohio and Alabama. Now, thanks to the welcome addition of online learning, the University's doors are open to students from all over the world.

The school's vision for providing higher education in an underserved area caught the eye of men like John D. Rockefeller and Andrew Carnegie, both of whom supported the institution. Cumberlands has produced two governors, five military generals, an admiral, five college and university presidents, a Congressman, ministers, missionaries, legislators, judges and more.

Ten presidents have served Cumberlands, including William James Johnson, E. E. Wood, John Newton Prestridge, Gorman Jones, A. R. Evans, Charles William Elsey, James Lloyd Creech, J. M. Boswell, James H. Taylor and Larry L. Cockrum, current President.

Motto and Seal

Explanation of the University Symbols

"Vita Abundantior" More Abundant Life

During Dr. Wood's term as president (1890-1919), the seal was originated. It was revised in 2005 when the name was changed to University of the Cumberlands.

The purpose of the University, as implied by the seal, is to provide a more abundant life for Kentucky mountain people through quality education.

This symbol is used on some of the official stationery of the University. It is made up ofthree parts: The "C" for Cumberlands, the cross is symbolic of Christianity, and the crown is symbolic of service. University of the Cumberlands is a Christian university which serves the community, state, and nation.

Policies and Regulations

The University Community

University of the Cumberlands seeks to be a place of free inquiry and a community which searches for truth. As the University invites the infusion of student opinion, the University expects students to respect the opinions of others, including fellow students, faculty, staff, and members of the administration. Students are expected to express their opinions and thoughts in ways which are appropriate in this Christian academic community.

The University offers no sanctuary to any individual who condones, advocates or participates in behavior deemed inappropriate by the University. Any person who engages in such behavior will be disciplined. "Participation in" means being present at gatherings which include activities not sanctioned by the University, whether one is an active participant or not. Failure to obey orders of University officials during any type of situation may result in immediate suspension from school.

The University admits students who come here voluntarily, to continue their education, presumably with a full understanding of the rules and regulations. Once having entered this University, students are expected to abide not only by the policies and procedures of the campus, but by the laws of this nation.

Academic Information

Academic information may be obtained from such sources as the Office of Academic Affairs, the Registrar, departmental publications, and the University's catalogs online versions of all current catalogs, along with information on the academic calendar and class schedules, are available on the Academics page of the University's website at http://www.ucumberlands.edu/academics.

Academic Dishonesty Policy

At a Christian liberal arts university committed to the pursuit of truth and understanding, any act of academic dishonesty is especially distressing and cannot be tolerated. In general, academic dishonesty involves the abuse and misuse of information or people to gain an undeserved academic advantage or evaluation. The common forms of academic dishonesty include:

- Cheating – using deception in the taking of tests or the preparation of written work, using unauthorized materials, copying another person's work with or without consent, or assisting another in such activities;
- Lying – falsifying, fabricating, or forging information in either written or spoken presentations;
- Plagiarism – using the published writings, data, interpretations, or ideas of another without proper documentation.
- Multiple submissions - submitting the same academic written or oral work for which credit was previously received, without the approval of the instructor.

Episodes of academic dishonesty are reported as appropriate to the Vice President for Academic Affairs. The potential penalty for academic dishonesty includes 1) a failing grade on a particular assignment, 2) a failing grade for the entire course, 3) suspension or expulsion, or 4) revocation of a degree.

The University reserves the right at any time to revoke a degree which was improperly awarded due to fraud, deceit, or error, and to rescind a degree in the case of a graduate's egregious misconduct. The University will not revoke any degree without following a fair process, including an opportunity for the graduate to respond to the evidence and to protect his or her interests.

Disability Accommodations

Academic Accommodations

University of the Cumberlands provides reasonable academic accommodations for students with documented disabilities and other qualifying conditions, such as pregnancy, temporary medical conditions, or mental health conditions, to ensure equal access to educational opportunities in accordance with applicable law. Accommodations are determined on an individual basis through an interactive process and may not fundamentally alter the academic program or create an undue hardship for the University.

Requesting Academic Accommodations

Students seeking academic accommodations must complete the Accommodations Request Form, available at: https://www.ucumberlands.edu/student-life/student-services/health-wellness/accommodations-and-accessibility, and submit supporting documentation.

Short-Term / Temporary Accommodations

Short-term accommodations are intended to support temporary limitations or absences, such as illness, medical appointments, or other short-term circumstances. Students must submit requests and appropriate documentation through the designated web form. Requests should be submitted in a timely manner.

Housing and Dining Accommodations

Accommodations related to housing or dining are coordinated separately through Mr. Chris O'Dell. For more information about these services, please contact Student Affairs at studentaffairs@ucumberlands.edu.

Student Class Attendance and Participation

Course enrollment and participation will be monitored and verified for all students during the first two weeks of classes. Lack of participation during this time may jeopardize enrollment status. Each student is expected to meet course expectations by completing the coursework required each week. Active participation and staying abreast of the material is essential to success. Program specific attendance policies may still apply. (New Institutional Attendance Policy, Effective Fall 2020).

In-Seat Classes. Course enrollment and participation will be monitored and verified for all students during the first two weeks of classes. Lack of participation during this time may jeopardize enrollment status. Each student is expected to meet course expectations by completing the coursework required each week. Active participation and staying abreast of the material is essential to success. Program specific attendance policies may still apply.

Online Classes. For online classes delivered in an entirely asynchronous format, there is no attendance policy. However, for online classes with a synchronous component (e.g., an online discussion or "chat" session scheduled regularly each week), the expectations of attendance defined for in-seat classes also apply. Thus, a student who misses more than one weekly synchronous session in an 8-week bi-term class may find their enrollment in jeopardy. The expectations and penalties for excessive absence from synchronous activities are included in course syllabus for online classes.

Class Participation. Completion of assignments by published deadlines is directly related to successful completion of any course, in-seat or online. Failure to meet deadlines for assignments typically invokes penalties that can lead to failure of a course. The penalties for not submitting assignments or for late submission of assignments are included in the syllabi for all courses.

On-Campus Student Eligibility for Enrollment in Online Courses

Online summer classes are available both to traditional students and to non-traditional students enrolled in UC Online. In addition, during the regular academic year, online courses are available in both the 8-week session as well as the sixteen-week semester for traditional students within the parameters defined below.

- Incoming students seeking online coursework in the summer term prior to full-time enrollment must meet all admission requirements and be admitted to a fall on-campus term prior to being admitted for online courses.
- During the fall or spring semester, students normally must enroll in at least 9 semester hours of in-seat courses to be able to register for 6 semester hours of online coursework.
- Courses taught in a blended or hybrid format are NOT considered online courses. Such courses have course activities online but meet in-seat for more than half of the traditional contact time for the credit hours earned. NOTE: Additional course fees may be applicable for online classes.

Leadership & Community Service Program

The goal of the Leadership and Community Service Program is to empower students to become compassionate agents of change, to use their knowledge and abilities to help others, to inspire responsibility, and to stimulate service as a life-long conviction. The University's leadership program is designed to help students better understand how leadership is effectively exercised to enhance their personal leadership.

As a requirement for graduation, all main campus undergraduate students must participate in the Leadership/Community Service Program.

Two components of this program that are required before your graduation application will be approved follows:
*Students seeking an associate's degree must only complete component one. Students seeking a bachelor's degree must complete both.

1. Enroll in the Orientation (first year, first semester) or UC Engage Course (every semester following Orientation 100 until 90 credit hours are earned). More information on this course can be found https://www.ucumberlands.edu/uc-engage.

   All students who pass UC Engage (UCEN 101-01) will have two hours of community service added to their cumulative service hours credited toward graduation for the semester completed.

   Students who meet one or more of the following criteria before the 15-week main-campus term begins may be exempt from participating in UC Engage:
   - Enrolled in Orientation 100
   - Senior standing (90 semester hours)
   - Students who are 25 years of age or older and/or have custody of dependents.
   - Military Veterans or Active Service Members

2. Each undergraduate main campus student at UC must complete and report a minimum of 40 hours of community service to graduate.

Community Service hours are reported to the Director of Career Services and Community Service by email or dropped off to Student Affairs Office. Download UC Community Service Documentation Form HERE.

Hutton Scholar Program
Students enrolled in a four-year undergraduate academic program who complete and report 200+ community service hours will be recognized at the graduation ceremony after their degree conferral and receive a certificate as a distinguished Hutton Scholar.

Military Veterans or Active Service Members will receive 200 community service hours automatically with proof of service and will be recognized as Hutton Scholars.

The Office of Student Affairs directs this program and reports completion of requirements to the Registrar's Office.

Academic Standing
Please see your undergraduate or graduate university catalog for academic standing policy information.

Academic Appeals
Both undergraduate and graduate students have the right to challenge a grade. Before filing a formal appeal, the student must discuss the grade with the course instructor and department chair. If a satisfactory conclusion is not reached, the student may file a formal written appeal with the Vice President for Academic Affairs, who will forward the appeal to the chair of the Academic Appeals Committee.

This formal written appeal to challenge a grade must be filed four weeks after the last day of class for the semester in which the course being appealed occurred. The Academic Appeals Committee then reviews the student's written appeal and gathers information from the instructor, and any other relevant parties. The Committee will deliver its recommendation on the complaint to the Vice President for Academic Affairs. After reviewing this recommendation and concurring or amending it, the Vice President for Academic Affairs will inform the student and instructor of the disposition of the complaint no later than the last day of classes of the term in which the complaint was filed.

Records of all actions regarding academic grade appeals, including the final disposition, are maintained by the Vice President for Academic Affairs and the Academic Appeals Committee.

Enrollment

Withdrawal from the University
A student desiring to withdraw from University of the Cumberlands at any time must complete required paperwork and receive permission from the Vice President for Academic Affairs. The withdrawal process normally begins with the student contacting their Student Success Coordinator. The following policies and procedures govern withdrawal from the University for the current term.

1. The permanent record of a student who withdraws from University of the Cumberlands up until the last day to drop a class published on the Academic Calendar for that semester or bi-term will list a mark of "W" for all courses for which another grade has not been previously posted. A "W" carries no grade point penalty.
2. Students withdrawing after the last day to drop a course for the semester or bi-term will receive a grade as determined by the professor. In many cases this may be an "F."
3. An administrative withdrawal will be posted when non-participation in classes results in an active schedule of less than 1 credit hour, with W's or F's posted on all other courses.
4. The official date of withdrawal for on-campus classes will be used by the Office of Student Accounts and the Student Financial Center to determine any adjustments in financial aid and financial charges. This date will be the last date of an academically related activity, which is generally the last date of class attendance.

Medical / Emergency Withdrawal
Students who must withdraw from classes for medical reasons or because of dire personal circumstances may submit a written request to the Academic Affairs Office as soon as the student intends to stop participating in classes. A student whose withdrawal is necessitated by illness or injury must submit the request and supporting documentation within three weeks of becoming unable to attend classes or participate in an online program. This request must be supported by a letter from a medical professional or other source supporting the student's request with specific information on the student's diagnosis, current condition and continuing treatment requirements, or on the student's personal emergency that necessitates the withdrawal request. If the medical/ emergency withdrawal is granted, the student will receive a grade of "W" in all current classes. NOTE: Normally, partial medical/ emergency withdrawals are not permitted (that is, withdrawal from one or two courses while the student continues in others).

Administrative Withdrawal
A student may be withdrawn from all classes by administrative action based upon:
Disciplinary action against a student confirmed by the Vice President for Student Affairs, the Vice President for Academic Affairs, or other university officer;

- Failure of the student to confirm enrollment during the enrollment confirmation period at the beginning of a term.
- Non-Participation in classes resulting in an active schedule of less than 1 credit hour and the posting of an F or W in other classes.

Determination of Active Enrollment

When the University has determined the date of withdrawal for a student, for the current term, this date will be used as the students' final date of active enrollment. This date is used by the Office of Student Accounts and the Office of Financial Aid to determine the eligibility for any tuition refund and any requirement for return of Financial Aid.

Housing

Students wishing to withdraw from a residence hall must follow the procedure outlined below (in the order indicated):

- Contact the UC Housing Office to begin the withdrawal process from a residence hall.
- Vacate and clean the room from which the student is withdrawing.
- Contact a Residence Life Staff member to complete the checkout process.
- Turn in key to the Residence Life Staff member.
- Make financial arrangements with the Office of Student Accounts. Any housing refunds will follow the universities applicable refund schedule.

Verification of Enrollment

A student must confirm enrollment at the beginning of each term during the Confirmation of Enrollment period established by the Registrar and published on the Academic Calendar. For in-seat courses, Confirmation of Enrollment normally occurs by attendance in all courses on a student's schedule at least once during the confirmation period. For on-line courses, Confirmation of Enrollment normally occurs via active participation in a learning activity in all courses during the confirmation period. With the assistance of other offices and all faculty, the Registrar's Office administers the procedures by which enrollment is confirmed. Failure to confirm enrollment may lead to courses being dropped.

NOTE: Student Aid is not disbursed by the Student Financial Center until enrollment is verified. A student's receipt of aid confirms the student's intent to complete all courses on the schedule for the semester. Once enrollment is confirmed and aid is disbursed, all policies and procedures described elsewhere are followed regarding tuition refund and aid remission should a student choose to drop individual classes or withdraw from all classes.

Student Accounts

Financial Clearance

Financial clearance means you have either paid your outstanding balance or made appropriate arrangements to pay the semester charges before the end of the term. Full payment of prior semester charges or satisfactory financial arrangement is required before the start of classes in the current semester. Students without financial clearance may be dropped from all future registration and current semester registration up to the registration Drop/Add period.

The status of a student's financial clearance will not prevent the release of diplomas or official transcripts. Regardless of a student's outstanding balance, official transcripts will be made available to all students once the requestor has paid the applicable fee.

Financial Aid

The Financial Aid Program at University of the Cumberlands assists eligible students through scholarships, grants, loans, and student employment. The United States Department of Education and University of the Cumberlands believe the primary responsibility for financing a college education rests with the student's family. Financial aid from the University is supplementary to the efforts of the family.

All students who need financial aid assistance should complete a FAFSA (Free Application for Federal Student Aid). Students can complete the FAFSA, PLUS Loan Application, MPN (Master Promissory Note) and Entrance Counseling form online at www.studentaid.gov. If you need help completing the FAFSA, contact the Student Financial Center.

In selecting financial aid recipients, consideration for an applicant's academic achievement, character and financial need to determine their financial aid offer. Through a combination of scholarship, grants, work-study and loans, University of the Cumberlands strives to make higher education affordable. The total amount of financial aid granted to any student by any combination of sources shall not exceed the student's total Cost of Attendance (COA). The Student Financial Center reserves the right to adjust awards to stay in compliance with federal and state regulations and institutional policy.

Once aid has been accepted and all outstanding requirements have been satisfied, the University will begin disbursing aid during the third week of classes each semester and/or bi-term if applicable. Scholarship and grant aid are automatically accepted on the student's behalf. Financial aid (grants, loans and scholarships) that has been authorized but not paid to the student account is considered to be anticipated. Anticipated aid is deducted from the current term balance when reviewing your account activity in the MyUC portal. Any balance not covered by financial aid will be billed to your student account and is subject to the payment due date. If the remaining balance after financial aid is not submitted by the payment due date or scheduled and is current on a payment plan, the student account is subject to a late fee. After the financial aid is disbursed, it will be applied to the student account. However, there will be no further reduction in the remaining balance because the aid was considered while in the anticipated status. Federal financial aid can cover a prior term balance within the same academic year. For example, Spring aid may cover a Fall balance, but Fall aid cannot cover Summer from the prior academic year. The student may acquire private loans to pay a previous academic year/term balance in certain instances. All offered financial aid is subject to change based on federal, state and institutional policies, rules, and regulations.

A student is not eligible for any financial aid before the first day of class attendance. Don't hesitate to get in touch with the Student Financial Center for more information concerning financial aid.

Scholarships, Workships, Loans

The University is fortunate to have the support of alumni and friends from across the country and around the world who have generously given to the endowment for a named scholarship, workship or loan fund. Earnings from these funds are awarded annually to students at the University who meet the criteria set forth by the person or persons who established the fund.

University Scholarships

Through the Student Financial Center, University of the Cumberlands administers a program of athletic and academic scholarships available to qualified full-time on-campus undergraduate students upon application and/or selection. Most scholarships are available for up to eight semesters unless otherwise noted.

Students should submit this information to the Admissions Office prior to May 1. Students will be notified of their scholarship eligibility by the Student Financial Center.

Athletic Scholarships

Athletic Scholarships are offered in both men's and women's intercollegiate athletics in accordance with the regulations of the NAIA and the Mid-South Conference. These scholarships are based on athletic potential and are awarded by an appropriate member of the athletic staff in coordination with the Student Financial Center.

Institutional Internship Program

The Institutional Internship Program provides eligible students with meaningful, hands-on employment opportunities that complement their academic experience while supporting the daily operations of the University. Through Federal Work-Study and Presidential Student Employment, students gain valuable professional skills, build workplace experience, and develop career readiness while working in a variety of on-campus departments.

Federal Work-study

The Federal Work-Study Study Program is an integral part of the operation of the University and the University's objective to prepare students to become well-rounded and educated individuals. The program provides part-time jobs for students who have financial need and allows them the opportunity to help pay for part of their educational expenses. At University of the Cumberlands, students work in a variety of departments that will create a work schedule built around their academic schedule. The Student Financial Center uses information received from a student's FAFSA to determine eligibility for federal work-study. A student's total federal work-study award depends on when the FAFSA information is received, level of financial need and Cumberlands' current funding level. In order to receive work-study funds, they must be earned. The pay rate is $8.50/hr for most jobs, except for food service and plant service jobs which pay $9.50/hr. University of the Cumberlands reserves the right to alter the pay rate or pay schedule at any time during the award period. Currently students are paid bi-weekly on the 15th and last day of the month.

In most cases, earnings are used to help pay a student's account balance. Work-Study students have the option to enroll in direct deposit to post wages directly to their student account or to deposit their wages directly to a personal bank account. Checks may be picked up at the Campus Post Office for those who do not wish to participate in the direct deposit option. It is the student's responsibility to apply for and secure employment, report to work as scheduled, perform assigned tasks and abide by the policies and procedures of the department in which they are employed. If a student does not complete the total number of work-study hours for the semester, they will be responsible for the remaining balance on their student account. If a student does not wish to participate in the work-study program, they will need to contact the Student Financial Center to remove it from their offer letter. As a result, they will need to make alternative payment arrangements to cover their remaining balance.

Presidential Student Employment
University of the Cumberlands has limited funds available for on-campus jobs for students who do not qualify for the Federal Work-Study Program. This program provides part-time employment in a variety of departments that will create a work schedule built around the academic schedule of the student. The pay rate is $8.50/hr for most jobs, except for food service and plant service jobs, which pay $9.50/hr. University of the Cumberlands reserves the right to alter the pay rate or pay schedule at any time during the award period. Currently, students are paid bi-weekly on the 15th and last day of the month.

Students have the option to enroll in direct deposit to post wages directly to their student account or to deposit their wages directly to a personal bank account. Checks may be picked up at the Campus Post Office for those who do not wish to participate in the direct deposit option.

The Resident Assistant Program
The primary purpose of the Resident Assistant Program is to facilitate the personal services of all students who live in the University's residence halls. Students who live in residence halls can apply to become Resident Assistants and receive a scholarship in exchange for their services in guiding fellow students. The program affords training in leadership and responsibility among peers, as well as remunerative benefits. It provides a liaison between students and administration via personal services rendered, which can be maintained in no better way.

Special Circumstance Appeals

If you are a prospective or returning undergraduate student who has completed your FAFSA and experienced a situation negatively impacting your ability to fund your education, help may be available in the form of our Financial Assistance Form. These situations may include a personal or family loss of income, change in employment status or other situations that affect your financial stability. If you are an undergraduate student, we will reevaluate your aid offer. If you are a graduate student, we will reevaluate your cost of attendance budget.

UC recognizes that each family situation is unique; therefore, each application for Financial Assistance is carefully analyzed. Since the applications for financial aid are confidential, students and parents are urged to answer all questions completely and fully explain all special circumstances and provide any documentation that may assist in the appeal process. In most cases, incomplete applications will be returned to the applicant for the needed information.

Financial Aid Withdrawal and Non-Attendance Policies

According to the Department of Education Federal Regulations, Title IV funds (Pell, FSEOG, TEACH Grants, Direct Subsidized and Unsubsidized student loans, PLUS loans) are offered to students with the expectation they will attend the classes for which they enrolled. Part of the awarding criteria for Financial Aid is the number of credit hours a student registered for (enrollment status) along with the duration of enrollment (semester/bi-term). Each semester consists of two eight-week and/or a 16-week term.

Attendance is confirmed before the end census date (Drop/Add period). Courses with confirmed attendance through census determine enrollment status for financial aid purposes. If a student has not attended a class at the census, the student will be administratively withdrawn as a "no-show" from the course and will not receive any federal or state aid for the course.
Changes to enrollment status and your offered aid can occur when altering your class schedule. Suppose you are considering dropping a course before the census date or dropping more credit hours than what is added back (i.e., drop 3 credit hour course but only add a 1 credit hour course). In that case, any offered aid is recalculated on the REVISED enrollment status, resulting in a change from full-time to part-time and reducing offered aid for the semester.

Official Withdrawals
When a student officially withdraws from all courses before completing the semester, our office is required to complete a recalculation for all Title IV funds as of the Last Date of Attendance (LDA). University of the Cumberlands is not required to monitor student attendance. Instructors must record academic activity (including online, student teaching, internships, practicum and so forth) through the census period. If a student receives a failing grade in a course, an instructor will be required to enter the last date of the academically related activity for that course. The last date of academic activity is the date used for Return to Title IV (R2T4) calculations.
The date of notification is when a student begins the withdrawal process or the date, as determined by University of the Cumberlands, that the student otherwise provided official notification in writing or orally of his intent to withdraw.

How to Withdraw from Classes
Students that wish to officially withdraw should contact their student success coordinator.

- On-Campus Undergraduate: studentsuccess@ucumberlands.edu or 606-539-4230
- Online Undergraduate: ucoss@ucumberlands.edu or 606-539-4646
- Online Graduate: gss@ucumberlands.edu or 606-539-4539

Unofficial Withdrawals
Students who complete an academically related activity during enrollment and later withdraw or stop attending without proper notification from all their courses will be evaluated for Return to Title IV Funds (R2T4). If one instructor reports a student attended through the end of the period, no R2T4 would be required. Similarly, if the student never attended, they are not eligible for Title IV Aid, and no R2T4 would be necessary. Students that University of the Cumberlands withdraw for non-attendance will have an LDA that is either the midpoint of the payment period or the last date of an academically related activity in which the student participated.

Return of Federal Title IV Aid Funds

For students withdrawing from all courses--either officially or unofficially--who received Federal Title IV funds, federal regulations require a specific refund calculation, also known as a Return to Title IV (R2T4) calculation. It is required by federal statute to recalculate federal financial aid eligibility for students who withdraw, are dismissed or cease attending before completing 60% of a payment period (semester/term). Suppose a student withdraws on or before the 60 percent point in time. In that case, a portion of Federal Title IV aid funds awarded to a student (Federal Direct Unsubsidized, Subsidized loans, Federal Perkins Loan, Federal Direct Parent (PLUS) Loan, Federal Pell Grant, Federal SEOG and the Federal TEACH grant) must be returned in accordance with the provisions of the Higher Education Act, as amended. The return of federal student aid funds may result in the student owing a balance to the University and/or to the U.S. Department of Education. Students whose calculations result in a credit balance will be issued a refund within 14 days of the date the R2T4 is completed.

In some cases, students can be exempt from withdrawals if they are taking courses that are modular, or bi-term courses at University of the Cumberlands. To be exempt the student must have met one of the following three criteria:

- Completed requirements for graduation
- Successful completion of 49% of days in the payment period or period of enrollment
- Successful completion of half-time enrollment

The calculation that determines the amount of aid earned by the student for the period is a percentage of earned aid using the following Federal Return of Title IV Funds formula:

Percentage of the payment period completed in which courses are offered in modules = the number of days completed up to the withdrawal date divided by the payment period's total days. (Any break of five days or more is not counted as part of the number of completed days or total days in the payment period.) This percentage is also the percentage of earned aid.

The Calculation that determines the Funds returned to the appropriate federal program using Federal Return of Title IV Funds formula:
Aid to be returned = 100% of the aid that could be disbursed minus the percentage of earned aid; multiplied by the total amount of aid that could have been disbursed during the payment period or term.

If a student earned less aid than was disbursed, the Institution would be required to return a portion of the funds, and the student may be required to return a part of the funds as well. University of the Cumberlands will return the amount of Title IV funds for which it is responsible as soon as possible, but no later than 45 days after University of the Cumberlands determines or should have determined that the student withdrew. Keep in mind that when Title IV funds are returned, it may create a balance on your student account that you will be responsible for making repayment arrangements to satisfy.

The return of Federal Title IV Aid funds is allocated in the following order:

1. Loans:
   - Unsubsidized Federal Direct Stafford Loans
   - Subsidized Federal Direct Stafford Loans
   - Federal Perkins Loans
   - Federal Direct Parent (PLUS) Loans received on behalf of student

2. Remaining Funds:
   - Federal PELL Grants
   - Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants (FSEOG)
   - Federal TEACH Grants

Return of Title IV Example:
A sophomore withdraws three weeks into the semester. The student was charged full-time undergraduate tuition of $4,938. A $2,250 subsidized and $2,000 unsubsidized Direct Loan paid the majority of charges; the student paid the remainder from savings and has a $0 balance on the student account on the day of withdrawal. There are 110 total days in the semester; the student attended 37 days. Percentage of earned aid = 37/110 = 33.63% earned.

- Unearned aid = 100% - 33.6% (earned) = 66.4% unearned
- $4,250 (aid received) X 33.63% = $1,428 earned.
- $4,250 - $1,428 = $2,822 unearned (Aid that must be returned).
- Amount of Aid to be Returned by School = Institutional charges multiplied by the unearned percentage; $4,938 X 66.4% = $3,278.83
- Since $3,278 exceeds the amount of unearned aid, the lesser number is used.

$822 Subsidized and $2,000 Unsubsidized Direct Loan disbursement would be reversed from the student account, creating a balance owed to University of the Cumberlands. Student receiving tuition and fee refunds will be credited according to the published refund schedule (https://www.ucumberlands.edu/payment/refund-policy).

Post-Withdrawal Disbursement (PWD) Overpayments

If a student earned more aid than was disbursed, the Institution might owe the student a post-withdrawal disbursement. A post-withdrawal disbursement must be made from available grant funds before available loan funds. Loan funds require a confirmation from the borrower that they still wish to have the loan funds disbursed. Loan funds that are a second or subsequent disbursement are not eligible for distribution. Grant funds not credited to the student's account must be disbursed to the student as soon as possible, but no later than 45 days after the date of the Institution's determination that the student withdrew.

University of the Cumberlands will provide written notification within 30 days of the date of the Institution's determination that the student withdrew that:

- Identifies the type of loan and the amount that will either be applied to the student's account and/or refunded back to the appropriate borrower(s)
- Requests the acceptance or declination of the post-withdrawal loan disbursement
- Advises the borrower(s) about their repayment obligation
- Gives the borrower(s) a response deadline.

Confirmations received before the deadline will be processed by University of the Cumberlands as soon as possible, but no later than 180 days after the Institution's determination the student withdrew. If PWD funds are declined, or no response is received, no loan funds will be processed.

Overpayments

In the event of an overpayment to a student, University of the Cumberlands will return all funds to the appropriate Federal Aid Program(s) as mentioned above, resulting in the student owing the Institution. University of the Cumberlands utilizes a standard collections procedure for students with account balances. If a student owes an overpayment, University of the Cumberlands understands that it can report the students who fail to take positive action to NSLDS and refer them to the Default Resolution Group for collection. However, in most cases the University will return the funds on the student's behalf, leaving a balance on their account. Inadvertent overpayments will be returned within 45 days of the date of the Institution's determination that the student withdrew.

State Financial Aid

The student's percentage of state financial aid shall remain the same as earned under Title IV programs for the same payment period. However, students registered for a 16-week term schedule at census one will be eligible for state financial aid. If classes are added after census one, students will not be eligible for state financial aid.

When a student withdraws from classes after census one, state financial aid will not be included in the return calculation. Students not enrolled at census one will receive state financial aid based on census two enrollment.

Deceased Student

If University of the Cumberlands determines that a student has died during a period, they must perform a Return Calculation. If the calculation indicates that an institution is required to return Title IV funds, the school must return the Title IV funds for which it is responsible.
The student's estate is not required to return any Title IV funds disbursed to the student. University of the Cumberlands will not report a grant overpayment for a deceased student to National Student Loan Data System (NSLDS) nor refer an overpayment to Debt Resolution Services.
The regulations governing the Direct Loan programs provide for a discharge of a borrower's obligation to repay a Federal Direct Loan if the borrower dies (including a Direct PLUS loan borrower's obligation to repay if the student on whose behalf the parent borrowed dies). If University of the Cumberlands is aware that a student who has died has any outstanding Title IV loan debt, they may contact the student's estate and inform it of its actions to have that debt canceled.

Suppose a Title IV credit balance created from funds disbursed before the student's death exists after the completion of the Return calculation and Institutional refund calculation. In that case, University of the Cumberlands will resolve the credit balance in one of the following ways:

1. By Cash Management regulations, paying authorized charges at the Institution (including previously paid charges that are now unpaid as a result of the Return of Title IV funds by the Institution)
2. Returning any remaining credit balance to the Title IV programs

Satisfactory Academic Progress

Undergraduate Satisfactory Academic Progress

Federal regulations require that all students who receive federal or state financial aid make progress toward a degree. All colleges must have policies that ensure students are making this progress both qualitatively (GPA) and quantitatively (hours attempted versus hours earned and time frame). At Cumberlands, we have established the following Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP) Policy for all types of financial aid (federal, state and institutional) that will be reviewed each semester, including the summer term.

Enrollment

Students must have at least 12 credit hours each semester to be considered full-time. Students with 9 to 11 credit hours are considered ¾ time and students with 6-8 hours are ½ time. Any student with less than 6 hours is considered less-than ½ time. Enrollment status is determined at 5:00 p.m. on the last day to register for a class. This is called our "Census Date". Most types of financial aid are dependent on enrollment status. For example, the student must be full-time to receive institutional scholarships. Enrollment status will not change after the Census Date for that term, but dropping or withdrawing from classes can cause problems with maintaining SAP. Transfer credit counts as both attempted and earned hours. Repeating classes can affect SAP.

Quantitative
The maximum time frame in which a student must complete their degree cannot exceed 150% of the published length of the student's major. All undergraduate majors at Cumberlands require a minimum of 120 hours to complete the degree. Students can therefore attempt a maximum of 180 hours (120 x 150%) and remain eligible. Any student who attempts hours beyond this mark is ineligible for financial aid. All semesters and credit hours attempted are used toward the maximum time frame allowance regardless of whether the student received financial aid. All repeated courses, failed courses, withdrawals, courses taken from a change in major and transferred hours will count as credit hours attempted toward the maximum time frame.

In order to complete the necessary number of credit hours within the allowable time frame, all students must earn credits in 67% of all hours they attempt. Grades of W, I, F and transfer hours are counted as attempted hours. However, grades of W, I and F will NOT count as earned hours. Below are some examples:

Fall Hours Attempted	Spring Hours Attempted	Total Hours Attempted	Student Must Earn
12	12	24 x .67	16
9	9	18 x .67	12
6	6	12 x .67	8

Qualitative
Students must also earn a certain cumulative Grade Point Average (GPA) to maintain SAP. All undergraduate students must maintain a cumulative GPA of at least a 2.0 on a 4.0 scale. Repeat coursework may improve your GPA, but these courses will still count toward your completion rate.

Evaluation
After each semester, a review will be made of all enrolled students to determine if they meet this policy. If the student fails to meet SAP after one semester, they will be automatically placed on "Financial Aid Warning." The student will be eligible to receive aid for one semester. At the end of the warning semester, the student will be evaluated again. If they regain SAP, there is no further action and they will remain eligible for financial aid. For those students who fail to regain SAP, they will be placed in "SAP Suspension" and be ineligible to receive financial aid. Quantitative calculations are not rounded up.

Appeals
Students who are in SAP Suspension may appeal this decision to the SAP Appeals Committee. The appeal must be made through Guardian in myUC and explain why they failed to make SAP and what has changed that will allow them to make SAP at the next evaluation. Appeals are subject to a submission deadline based on the student's enrollment; see the appeal timeframe below for details. The committee will decide if the student will be able to meet SAP standards by the next evaluation or if a plan can be developed to ensure that the student will be able to meet SAP standards by a specific point in the future. If the appeal is approved, they will be placed on "Financial Aid Probation" for one semester. At the end of the next semester, the student must be making SAP or successfully following a SAP Appeals Committee plan or become ineligible to receive financial aid.

To ensure appeals can be reviewed prior to the end of the term, appeals must be submitted in Guardian with all applicable third-party documentation no later than four weeks prior to the end of the term in which the student is enrolled. If a student is only enrolled in one bi-term of a semester, the appeal must be submitted no later than four weeks prior to the end of the bi-term in which they are enrolled.

Appeals submitted after the applicable deadline, or after the end of the term in which the student is seeking aid, will not be reviewed for that term and will be considered, if resubmitted, for a subsequent term of enrollment.

How to Regain Eligibility
- For maximum time frame, graduate, and advance to a new academic level (UG to GR).
- For hours attempted versus hours earned, take courses at your own expense to meet or exceed the quantitative standard. You must then contact the Student Financial Center
- For GPA, take courses at your own expense to meet or exceed the qualitative standard. You must then contact the Student Financial Center.

Notification
Once your appeal has been reviewed, a notification will be sent scheduling a meeting to go over an academic plan if you have been approved or notified of its denial. All notifications will be sent by email to their Cumberlands email address, or to the home address on file if the student has opted out of email. Students receiving an academic plan will be given a specified time to make SAP.

University Account

Students who do not already have a University account must go online and complete the required form to receive their username and password. This username and password are to be used for the entire duration of their time at University of the Cumberlands. The University Account form can be found by going to the website http://www.ucumberlands.edu/it and clicking the link "Sign up for a UC Account". University officials and offices routinely communicate important information to students through their campus email, so students are responsible for regularly checking and maintaining these accounts.

Student accounts, including email and associated services, remain active for approximately 18 months following graduation or separation from the University. For students participating in Optional Practical Training (OPT) under an F-1 visa, accounts remain active for up to three years. On-Campus Access to the Network

Information Technology has issued these minimum requirements in order to access the network:

- University Account - The University email account provides students access to all electronic resources at the University including: the myUC portal, Housing Portal, library resources, computer labs, email, and iLearn. myUC is a service that allows students to check grades, register for classes, and make payments to accounts. iLearn is used by instructors to post class notes, assign homework, and give online quizzes and is one of the primary resources used by students taking online courses.
- Network Cable (if not using wireless) – Information Technology does not provide Ethernet cables.
- Antivirus Software – Each personal computer on the network needs antivirus software that will periodically update itself. Information Technology does not supply this software but will provide insight into good products.

Wireless Internet is available in all residence halls, classroom buildings, and several outdoor spaces across campus.

Responsible Use of Information Technology

All members of University of the Cumberlands community who use the University's computing, information, or communication resources must act responsibly. Every user is responsible for the integrity of those resources under their control. All users of University-owned or University-leased information technology systems must respect the rights of other users, respect the integrity of the physical facilities and controls, and comply with all pertinent licenses and contractual agreements. It is the policy of University of the Cumberlands that all members of its community act in accordance with these responsibilities, relevant laws and contractual obligations, and the highest standard of ethics.

Information Technology provides important means of communication, both public and private. Users and system administrators will respect the privacy of person-to-person communication in all forms, including voice (telephone), text (electronic mail and file transfer), and images (graphics and video). Access to the University's information technology facilities, from both remote and campus sites, is a privilege granted to the University's students, faculty, and staff. Access to University information resources may be granted, limited, or withdrawn by the University based on the following factors: observance of relevant contractual obligations, the requester's need to know, the information sensitivity, system load, availability of training, risk of damage to or loss by the University, and the person's previous history of use.

The University reserves the right to extend, limit, restrict or deny privileges and access to its information resources.
University facilities and accounts are to be used for the activities or purposes for which they are assigned. University computing resources are not to be used for commercial purposes without written authorization from the University.

Users must guard against abuses that disrupt or threaten the viability of any system, including those at the University and those on networks to which the University's systems are connected or accessible. Abuses include the use of equipment such as wireless access points, wireless routers, cable routers, etc.

Access to information resources without proper authorization from data owners, unauthorized use of University facilities, and intentional corruption or misuse of information resources are direct violations of the University's standards for conduct as a Christian institution. Consequently, the system is continually monitored to evaluate system usage. Individuals using University systems without authority or in excess of their authority are subject to having all of their activities on the systems monitored and recorded by system personnel in conjunction with appropriate University personnel or local, state and/or federal authorities.

The University is not responsible for user data lost or erased from University equipment. Any and all data stored on a University system is the property of University of the Cumberlands.

System drives will be cleaned periodically, and any data files erased at the discretion of the network administration. It is the responsibility of the user to make disk copies, or download to their own equipment, any data files they have created or stored on University of the Cumberlands' systems, including email messages and addresses stored in the user's Webmail account.

University of the Cumberlands treats access and use violations of computing facilities, equipment, software, information resources, networks or privileges seriously. The University will pursue criminal and civil prosecution of violators when appropriate. Alleged violations of this policy will be reported to the Chancellor, Executive Vice President for Information Technology, or Vice President for Student Affairs. Any suspicious emails or suspected misuse of University technology resources should be promptly reported to abuse@ucumberlands.edu.

For a complete listing of all Information Technology policies, please visit http://www.ucumberlands.edu/it.

Social Media Guidelines

University of the Cumberlands seeks to promote open discussion on social media sites, subject to its existing codes and policies. While all members of the University community -- students, staff, and faculty -- are expected to adhere to codes of conduct reflective of the values of the university, both on and offline, the University's Social Media Policy recognizes that employees of the University are governed by contractual agreements and personnel policies that may use different guidelines for using social media than those for students.

The following guidelines govern student communications:

- All institutional policies apply online just as they would offline.
- Notwithstanding, the University reserves the right to take down posts on pages administered by University personnel when considered to be necessary, including, but not limited to, violations of the University's codes and policies.
- The University reserves the right to block individual's access to social media sites administered by University personnel when they have been found to have engaged in violations of the University's codes and policies.
- Conduct online, including on social media sites, can be subject to discipline in accordance with the University's codes and policies. The University reserves the right to deny access via its networks to anyone deemed in violation of the code of conduct.
- Use of any UC trademark or logo is prohibited without written consent.
- Concerns about conduct online should be reported to the appropriate office/personnel.

Communications & Marketing

University Name and Logo

No faculty, staff, student, or any other individual, or organization may use the name, "Cumberland College" or "University of the Cumberlands" or any of the University's affiliated design assets (logos) without the approval of University administration. All actions in the name of the University must be consistent with its philosophy, goals, educational objectives and brand. The Office of University Communications has oversight over brand management for the university.

Commercial Advertising

In the interest of the beauty of the campus grounds and buildings and the equality of competitive enterprise, no commercial advertisement is permitted without first having approval in the same manner as it is described in the section "Soliciting on Campus".

Distribution of Printed Matter and Posters

The distribution of any type of printed matter, literature, or the posting of notices is permitted only with the prior permission of the proper administrative official who is delegated as the authority for that portion of the campus in which it is to be distributed or posted. Requirements for and/or limitations in posting or distributing materials are to be strictly followed. For information regarding approval to distribute or post materials, please see the Director of Student Development.

Soliciting on Campus

No one, including faculty members, staff members, and students, as well as persons from outside the University community, is permitted to sell, solicit, petition (except petitions authorized by the Student Government Association Constitution), or conduct any business operation or distribute literature in or on any part of the campus without written permission from the University President, the Chancellor, the Chief Financial Officer, the Vice President for Student Affairs, or the Director of Student Activities.

Student Affairs

Rights and Responsibilities

Students are afforded certain rights and corresponding responsibilities as long as they remain in good standing and comply with the University's standards of conduct. Student rights include, but are not limited to, the following:

- The right to pursue an education so long as the student exhibits satisfactory progress toward the completion of a degree.
- The right to develop individual potential to its fullest.
- The right to inquire about and participate in appropriate areas of policy-making, regulations, and procedures
- The right to know the regulations and policies for which students are accountable.
- The right to confidentiality of educational records and the right to review and correct those records as provided by the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act.
- The right to grieve in accordance with the University's grievance policies.
- The right to appeal disciplinary decisions resulting from any charge or violation of University policy.

Upon registering for housing and/or classes, a student agrees to abide by the rules and regulations of University of the Cumberlands then in effect or those which are subsequently announced. Such rules, policies, procedures or directives for which the students are responsible are published in the Student Handbook, the University Catalog, departmental handbooks/catalogs and/or directives issued periodically by the University's administration.

Privacy Rights of Students

The University is subject to the provisions of the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA). This federal law affords students certain rights with respect to the student's education records. These rights are:

1. The right to inspect and review the student's education records within 45 days of the day the University receives a request for access. Students should submit to the Office of the Registrar written requests that identify the record(s) they wish to inspect. The Registrar will make arrangements for access and notify the student of the time and place the records may be inspected.

2. The right to request the amendment of the student's education records that the student believes are inaccurate, misleading, or otherwise in violation of the student's privacy rights under FERPA. Students may ask the University to amend a record. They should write the Registrar, clearly identify the part of the record they want changed, and specify why it is inaccurate, misleading, or a violation of their privacy rights. If the Registrar decides not to amend as requested, the Registrar will notify the student of the decision and advise the student of his or her right to a hearing regarding the request and will provide the student with additional information regarding the request and will provide the student with additional information regarding the hearing procedures.

3. The right to consent to disclosures of personal identifiable information contained in the student's education records, except to the extent that FERPA authorized disclosure without consent. One exception which permits disclosure without consent is disclosure to school officials with legitimate educational interests. A school official is a person employed by the University in an administrative, supervisory, academic, research, or support staff position (including law enforcement unit personnel and health staff); a person or company with whom the University has contracted (such as an attorney, auditor, or collection agent) to perform a university function which would otherwise be accomplished by a university employee; a person serving on the Board of Trustees; or a student serving on an official committee, such as a disciplinary or grievance committee, or assisting another school official in performing his or her tasks. A school official has a legitimate educational interest if the official needs to review an education record in order to fulfill his or her professional responsibility.

4. Upon request, the University discloses education records without consent to officials of another school in which a student seeks or intends to enroll.

5. The University may also disclose, without the student's consent, "directory information", unless the student has advised the Registrar in writing within five days following each registration period that the student does not wish part or all of the directory information to be made public. Once filed, this instruction becomes a permanent part of the student's record until the student instructs the University, in writing, to have the request removed. The primary purpose of directory information is to allow the University to include this type of information in certain

University publications, the media, and outside organizations. The University has designated the following as examples of directory information: the student's name, addresses including electronic mail address, telephone numbers, date and place of birth, major field of study, degree sought, attained class level, expected date of completion of degree requirements and graduation, degrees and awards received, picture, dates of attendance, full or part-time enrollment status, the previous educational agency or institution attended, class rosters, participation in officially recognized activities and sports, weight and height of athletic team members and denominational preference.

6. The University may disclose education records without the student's consent in certain other circumstances as allowed by law. Students may contact the Registrar with questions or complaints about the content or release of their education records.

7. The right to file a complaint with the U.S. Department of Education concerning alleged failures by the University to comply with the requirements FERPA. The name and address of the office which administers FERPA and to which complaints are to be sent is: Family Policy Compliance Office, U.S. Department of Education, 400 Maryland Avenue, SW, Washington, DC, 20202- 4605.

Please refer to the "Reporting an Incident to the University" section found on page 27 of this handbook about filing a complaint or grievance with the university.

Student Communication Standards

Students are expected to communicate with University faculty, staff, administrators, offices, and other students in a professional and constructive manner. These standards apply to in-person interactions and electronic communications, including email, messaging platforms, online meetings, forms, and other digital channels.

Students are expected to:

1. Follow reasonable directives from University officials acting within their official responsibilities, including directions regarding the appropriate office, process, or point of contact for a matter.
2. Clearly state the concern and action requested, provide relevant information, respond to reasonable requests for clarification, and allow a reasonable period for review and response.
3. Refrain from harassing, excessive, persistent, duplicative, or disproportionate communications or demands that materially interfere with ordinary University operations or another person's ability to perform University responsibilities.
4. Use the designated process for complaints, grievances, appeals, and administrative requests. Related submissions may be consolidated and assigned to one office or point of contact. Copying or resubmitting the same matter to additional offices does not create separate reviews or appeals.
5. Refrain from reopening a matter that has received a final determination unless materially new information is available or an appeal remains available under University policy.

When necessary to support an orderly and consistent response, the University may designate a primary point of contact or communication method for a particular matter. The number of communications alone will not determine whether conduct is disruptive; the University may also consider frequency, duplication, recipients, prior responses, compliance with reasonable directives, and the actual effect on University operations.

Nothing in this section limits good-faith requests for assistance or accommodations; reports of discrimination, harassment, misconduct, or safety concerns; grievances or appeals under University policy; or communications with governmental or accrediting agencies. A determination that student communications violate this policy will be based on the manner, pattern, and operational effect of the communication, not its viewpoint or the student's participation in a protected process.

Dress and Appearance

University of the Cumberlands encourages standards which permit individuality without neglecting an overall sense of modesty. One's dress and general appearance reflects not only on themself, but also on the University community at large. Students are expected to wear shoes as a health and safety precaution. Cleanliness and appropriateness of attire is determined by time, place, and occasion. Campus dress and appearance are generally informal and comfortable.

Students may sunbathe in Patriots Park and on the residential side of campus. While sunbathing, proper attire is required such as a modest swimsuit.

Student Conduct and Social Discipline

The purpose of discipline at University of the Cumberlands is one of education. Disciplinary actions are both preventive and reformative to teach students to become more responsible for their actions.

Authorized University personnel may advise a student regarding any offensive behavior either on or off campus and may impose discipline when necessary. Students must comply with the directions of university officials acting in their official capacity consistent with the policies, rules, and regulations of the University.

A complaint alleging that a student has violated University expectations may be made by any member of the University community. The report or complaint process should be initiated by contacting the Director of Student Development. Official reports or complaints regarding violations of university expectations for conduct must be submitted in writing to the Director of Student Development.

If the complaint is deemed worthy of investigation, the student will be advised of the complaint. If the student denies the charge(s) or wishes to offer extenuating evidence in mitigation of punishment, the student shall be afforded an opportunity to be heard and to offer evidence and witnesses. However, if the appropriate University official deems the safety of the student or of others may be endangered, or the University's ability to engage in its normal activities may be impaired by the continued presence of the student in the University community or by the normal processes of notice and hearing, the student may be suspended immediately. Please see the Student Physical or Mental Health Emergency Policy referenced in this handbook for additional information.

Discipline involving student conduct violations is handled through the office of the Director of Student Development. Discipline involving academic affairs is handled through the office of the Vice President for Academic Affairs. There is an attempt to administer discipline appropriate to the seriousness of the offense, the circumstances involved, the frequency of infractions as reflected by the student's records, and the best interest of both the student and the University. All disciplinary decisions may be appealed through the process described in the Student Handbook under Grievances, Complaints, and Appeals. Students are always provided notice of any charges against them and an opportunity to respond to the charges before disciplinary sanctions are imposed. The University does not use live hearings or cross-examination in its disciplinary processes except in responding to formal complaints under the University's Title IX policy, as required by law.

Any of the following disciplinary sanctions may be imposed for violations:

Warning: A verbal or written reprimand may be given to notify the student that continuation or repetition of the violation will result in additional action being taken.

Record of Violation: Violations will be recorded and reported to the Director of Student Development and the Vice President for Student Affairs. When violations are sufficient in number, or for one flagrant violation, the offender may be suspended or expelled from their residence hall on campus or from the University entirely.

Discretionary Sanctions: A customized work assignment or service to the University or community.

Restitution: A replacement of or monetary reimbursement may be charged for damage to or misappropriation of property.

Conferencing: A conference may be held with the student to encourage self-control and an acceptable standard of conduct.

Campus Community Service: Campus Community Service hours may be assigned to a student as result of violation of policy. These community hours cannot be counted toward fulfillment of the community service requirement for graduation.

Educational/Developmental: A requirement to attend counseling sessions, write a paper, or participate in other related activities.

Fines: A monetary sum may be imposed upon a student for violation of policy.

Restricted Access: Denial of the student's privilege to be in specific areas of the campus, or on campus entirely, may be imposed upon the student for a specified period of time.

Social Probation: The most serious warning possible, short of suspension or expulsion, may be placed upon a student as formal notification that the student's conduct must be above reproach at all times and that subsequent violations may result in suspension from the University. Social probation may be for a definite or an indefinite period of time and may include stated restrictions. Upon approval of a request from the student, the probation may be lifted after a designated period of time.

Suspension: An involuntary separation of the student from the University may be imposed for a definite period of time. Following the period of suspension, a student may apply again for admission to the University.

Expulsion: The most severe of all disciplinary actions, expulsion imposes an involuntary separation of the student from the University.

Reporting an Incident to the University

Students, Faculty, and Staff are encouraged to report any violation of UC's student standards of conduct that they witness or have knowledge of. Examples include, but are not limited to, accident/injury, conduct violations, sexual harassment (detailed in Title IX page 33), other portions of the nondiscrimination policy, crimes, etc. Any member of the university can submit an incident report through email, phone, or other messaging, as well as using the below Incident Report Form link. Health Risks Associated with the Use of Alcohol and Illicit Drugs

Health risks associated with alcohol and drug abuse are tragic and represent a national problem of major proportions. Effects range from mood altering to death. The consequences affect not only the abuser but family and friends and society at large. Thinking is impaired. Behavior may be altered and judgment impeded. The risk of physical or psychological dependence is well documented. The use of alcohol and drugs may lead to the deterioration of physical health by causing or contributing to various health conditions including but not limited to fatigue, nausea, personal injury, insomnia, pathological organ damage, some forms ofcancer, pancreatitis, heart attack, respiratory depression, birth defects, coma, and death.
Abuse may also result in deterioration of mental health by causing or contributing to various conditions such as increased aggression, hallucinations, depression, disorientation, and psychosis.

Alcohol

Alcohol consumption causes a number of marked changes in behavior. Even low doses significantly impair the judgment and coordination required to drive a car safely, increasing the likelihood that the driver will be involved in an accident. Date rape and other sexual assaults are regularly associated with drinking. Low to moderate doses of alcohol increase the incidence of a variety of aggressive acts, including spouse and child abuse, date rape, and other sexual assaults.

Moderate to high doses of alcohol cause marked impairments in higher mental functions, severely altering a person's ability to learn and remember information. Very high doses cause respiratory depression and death.

If combined with other depressants of the central nervous system, much lower doses of alcohol will produce the effect just described.
Repeated use of alcohol can lead to dependence. Sudden cessation of alcohol intake is likely to produce withdrawal symptoms, including severe anxiety, tremors, hallucinations, and convulsions, and it can be life-threatening.

Long-term consumption of large quantities of alcohol particularly when combined with poor nutrition, can lead to permanent damage to vital organs such as the brain and liver.

Mothers who drink alcohol during pregnancy may give birth to infants with fetal alcohol syndrome. These infants have irreversibly physical abnormalities and mental retardation. In addition, research indicates that children of alcoholic parents are at greater risk of becoming alcoholics.

Available Counseling Resources

Students who violate the campus alcohol or drug policy are referred by the Director of Student Development to a class designed for college students. Students may also be required to attend counseling sessions either with a campus counselor or a counselor from a local mental health agency depending upon the individual student's situation. For additional information regarding counseling services, including assistance with scheduling appointments and/or an appointment with a local agency, email counselingcenter@ucumberlands.edu and or call 606-539-3566. The Director of Behavioral Health is located in the Browning Building on campus and can be reached at 606-539-3566. See https://www.ucumberlands.edu/counselingcenter for more information regarding services.

Harassment

The University maintains the following policy on sex discrimination and sexual harassment in compliance with Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 and the Title IX regulations in 34 CFR Part 106. The University provides notice of this policy to applicants for admission and employment, students, and employees to the extent required by law.

Discrimination on the Basis of Sex

The University does not unlawfully discriminate in its programs, activities, or the admission of students on the basis of sex and complies with state and federal laws prohibiting sex discrimination. As a non-profit Christian institute of higher learning, the University exercises its rights under state and federal law to use religion as a factor in making employment decisions.

Questions or inquiries about the application of Title IX and the Title IX regulations to the University's programs and activities may be addressed to the University's Title IX Coordinator, to the Assistant Secretary of the Department of Education, or both.

Complainant: an individual who is alleged to be the victim of conduct that could constitute Sexual Harassment.

Consent: Definition will vary.

Dating Violence: violence committed by a person
(1) who is or has been in a social relationship of a romantic or intimate nature with the victim; and

(b) The type of relationship.
(c) The frequency of interaction between the persons involved in the relationship.

Domestic Violence: felony or misdemeanor crimes of violence committed by a current or former spouse or intimate partner of the victim, by a person with whom the victim shares a child in common, by a person who is cohabitating with or has cohabitated with the victim as a spouse or intimate partner, by a person similarly situated to a spouse of the victim under the domestic or family violence laws of the Kentucky, or by any other person against an adult or youth victim who is protected from that person's acts under the domestic or family violence laws of Kentucky.

Facilitator: A person who serves to facilitate an informal resolution of a Formal Complaint through mediation, arbitration, restorative justice, or a similar process.

Formal Complaint: a document which:

(1) is filed by a Complainant or signed by the Title IX Coordinator/Deputy Coordinator; and
(2) if filed by the Complainant, he or she is participating in or attempting to participate in the University's education program, as a student, employee, or in some other capacity; and
(3) alleges Sexual Harassment against a Respondent; and
(4) Requests that the University investigate.

Hearing: The live hearing before a Decision-maker for the purpose of presenting evidence regarding the allegations in a Formal Complaint and allowing for questioning and cross-examination of Parties and witnesses by the Parties' advisors, all in order that the Decision-maker can determine responsibility.

Investigative Report: The written report created by the Investigator that fairly summarizes all relevant evidence obtained during the investigation of a Formal Complaint.

Investigator: The person designated by the University to investigate a Formal Complaint. If more than one person is designated, this term refers to all of the investigators.

Party: either the Complainant or the Respondent.

Parties: All Complainants and all Respondents with respect to a complaint of Sexual Harassment or with respect to multiple Formal Complaints which have been consolidated.

Respondent: An individual who has been reported to be the perpetrator of conduct that could constitute Sexual Harassment.

Sexual Assault: an offense classified as a forcible or nonforcible sex offense under the uniform crime reporting system of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, including: forcible or statutory rape, forcible sodomy, sexual assault with an object, forcible fondling, and incest.

Sexual Harassment: conduct on the basis of sex that satisfies one or more of the following:

(1) A University employee conditioning the provision of a University aid, benefit, or service on an individual's participation in unwelcome sexual conduct;
(2) Unwelcome conduct determined by a reasonable person to be so severe, pervasive, and objectively offensive that it effectively denies a person equal access to the University's education program or activity; or
(3) Sexual Assault, Dating Violence, Domestic Violence, or Stalking.

Stalking: engaging in a course of conduct directed at a specific person that would cause a reasonable person to

(1) fear for his or her safety or the safety of others; or
(2) suffer substantial emotional distress.

Supportive Measures: non-disciplinary, non-punitive individualized services offered to the Complainant or the Respondent (or one who may become a Respondent) before or after the filing of a Formal Complaint or where no Formal Complaint has been filed.

Response to Sexual Harassment (With or Without a Formal Complaint)

If the University has actual knowledge of Sexual Harassment in an Education Program or University Sponsored Activity, the Title IX Coordinator or Deputy Coordinator is responsible for coordinating a University response that is prompt and reasonable in light of the known circumstances and includes at least the following:

- Treating Complainants and Respondents equitably;
- Promptly contacting the Complainant to discuss the availability of Supportive Measures;
- Offering Supportive Measures to the Complainant whether or not the Complainant files a Formal Complaint;
- Considering the Complainant's wishes with respect to Supportive Measures;
- Explaining to the Complainant the process for filing a Formal Complaint; and
- Following the University's grievance procedure before the imposition of any disciplinary sanctions or other actions that are not Supportive Measures against a Respondent.

The University will provide students or employees who report being victims of Dating Violence, Domestic Violence, Sexual Assault or Stalking with a written explanation of their rights and options, regardless of whether the offense occurred on campus. The explanation will include written notification of counseling, health, mental health, victim advocacy, legal assistance, visa and immigration assistance, student financial aid, and other services available for victims (within the University and in the community), and the availability of changes to academic, living, transportation, and working situations, or Supportive Measures regardless of whether the student or employee files a Formal Complaint or makes a report to law enforcement.

Supportive Measures

The University will offer Supportive Measures as appropriate, as reasonably available, and without fee or charge to the Complainant, the Respondent, or a person who may become a Respondent before or after the filing of a Formal Complaint, including where no Formal Complaint has been filed. Supportive Measures are designed to restore or preserve equal access to the University's education program or activity without unreasonably burdening the other Party, including measures designed to protect the safety of all Parties or the University's educational environment, or deter sexual harassment.

The following are examples of Supportive Measures the University may make available, but other similar measures may also be provided:

- Leaves of absence
- Extensions of deadlines or other course-related adjustments
- Providing an escort to move safely between classes and activities
- Modifications of work or class schedules
- Mutual no-contact orders
- Counseling services.
- Increased security and monitoring of certain areas of the campus
- Modifications to academic program delivery method: online, in-seat, hybrid.

The Title IX Coordinator or Deputy Coordinator is responsible for coordinating the effective implementation of Supportive Measures.

Confidentiality

The University will maintain as confidential any Supportive Measures provided to the Complainant or Respondent to the extent that maintaining such confidentiality would not impair the University's ability to provide the Supportive Measures.

Emergency Removal from the University

The University may place a non-student employee Respondent on administrative leave during the pendency of the grievance procedure. The University may remove any Respondent from the University's Education Program or Activity on an emergency basis if:

(1) The University conducts an individualized safety and risk analysis.
(2) As a result of the analysis, the University determines that an immediate threat to the physical health or safety of any student or other individual arising from the allegations of Sexual Harassment justifies removal of the Respondent.
(3) The University provides the Respondent with notice and an opportunity to challenge the decision immediately following the removal.

This provision for administrative leave or emergency removal does not modify any of the Respondent's rights under Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 or the Americans with Disabilities Act.

Process for Formal Complaints of Sexual Harassment

General Provisions

The University will:

(1) Treat Complainants and Respondents equitably by providing remedies to a Complainant where a determination of responsibility for Sexual Harassment has been made against the Respondent.
(2) Presume that the Respondent is not responsible for the alleged conduct until a determination regarding responsibility is made at the conclusion of the grievance procedure.
(3) Follow this grievance procedure before the imposition against the Respondent of any disciplinary sanctions or other actions that are not Supportive Measures.
(4) Provide any Party whose participation is invited or expected written notice of the date, time, location, participants, and purpose of all hearings, investigative interviews, or other meetings, with sufficient time for the Party to prepare to participate.
(5) Design remedies to restore or preserve equal access to the University's Education Program or Activity. Remedies may include the same individualized services described as Supportive Measures, however remedies need not be non-disciplinary or non-punitive and need not avoid burdening the Respondent.
(6) Require all persons who serve as the Title IX Coordinator/Deputy Coordinator, Investigator, Decision-maker, Appeal Decision-maker, or Facilitator not to have a conflict of interest or bias for or against Complainants or Respondents generally or an individual Complainant or Respondent.
(7) Ensure that Title IX Coordinators, investigators, decision-makers, and Facilitators receive appropriate training. Part of the training will include how to serve impartially and avoid prejudgment of the facts, conflicts of interest, and bias.
(8) Apply the preponderance of the evidence standard in making determinations with respect to all Formal Complaints, whether against students, faculty, or non-faculty employees.

Notice of Allegations

Upon receiving a Formal Complaint, the University will provide all known parties written notice that includes at least the following:

(1) The University's grievance procedure, including any informal resolution process.
(2) All allegations which may constitute Sexual Harassment, including sufficient details known at the time and with sufficient time to prepare a response before any initial interview. Sufficient details include the identities of the parties involved in the incident, if known, the conduct allegedly constituting Sexual Harassment, and the date and location of the alleged incident, if known.
(3) A statement that the Respondent is presumed not responsible for the alleged conduct and that a determination regarding responsibility is made at the conclusion of the grievance procedure.
(4) A statement that the Parties may have an advisor of their choice, who may be, but is not required to be, an attorney.
(5) A statement that the Parties may inspect and review evidence.

(6) A statement that the University's code of conduct prohibits any student or employee knowingly making false statements or knowingly submitting false information during the grievance procedure.

If, in the course of an investigation, the University decides to investigate allegations about the Complainant or Respondent that are not included in the initial notice, the University will provide notice of the additional allegations to Parties whose identities are known.

Dismissing a Formal Complaint

If the conduct alleged in the Formal Complaint 1) would not constitute Sexual Harassment even if proved, 2) did not occur in an Education Program or Activity, or 3) did not occur against a person in the United States, then the University must dismiss the Formal Complaint as a complaint of Sexual Harassment under Title IX or this grievance procedure. However, the University may separately prosecute allegations of conduct which would violate other provisions of the University's code of conduct.

The University may dismiss all or part of a Formal Complaint if at any time during the investigation or hearing:

(1) a Complainant notifies the Title IX Coordinator in writing that the Complainant would like to withdraw the Formal Complaint or any allegations in it;
(2) the Respondent is no longer enrolled or employed by the University; or
(3) specific circumstances prevent the University from gathering evidence sufficient to reach a determination as to the Formal Complaint or allegations in it.

If all or part of a Formal Complaint is dismissed, the University must promptly and simultaneously send written notice of the dismissal and reason(s) for it to the Parties.

Consolidating Formal Complaints

The University may consolidate Formal Complaints:

(1) as to allegations of Sexual Harassment against more than one Respondent; or
(2) by more than one Complainant against one or more Respondents; or
(3) by one Party against the other Party, where the allegations of Sexual Harassment arise out of the same facts or circumstances.

Where a grievance procedure involves more than one Complainant or more than one Respondent, singular references to "Party," "Complainant," or "Respondent" include the plural, as applicable.

Advisors

Designated Advisors and University-Appointed Advisors

A Party may designate an advisor of his or her choice, and the advisor may be an attorney. The University will not limit the choice or presence of an advisor for either a Complainant or a Respondent in any meeting or grievance proceeding.

The University will appoint an advisor for any Party who does not have one present in the Hearing. University-appointed advisors serve at no cost to a Party. However, advisors appointed by the University serve for the limited purpose of conducting cross-examination at the Hearing. University-appointed advisors are not required to be attorneys or have a level of competency comparable to that of another Party's designated advisor. An advisor is not required to perform any function beyond relaying a Party's desired questions to the other Party and witnesses.

A Party may find that having an advisor is helpful throughout the grievance procedure and not just at the Hearing. Both Parties are encouraged to designate an advisor.

Because the University is required to provide certain information to a Party's advisor, each Party must notify the Title IX Coordinator or Deputy Coordinator in writing if he or she has designated an advisor. A Party may obtain an advisor or change the identity of the Party's advisor at any time.

Rules for Advisors

Except during a Hearing, the role of the advisor is limited to providing support, guidance, or advice to the Complainant or Respondent throughout the grievance procedure. The following rules apply to all advisors, including advisors appointed by the University:

(1) Advisors are not to answer questions posed directly to any Party or witness, nor otherwise interfere with questioning by the Investigator. An advisor may request reasonable opportunities to confer with the Party being advised.
(2) During meetings, a Party and the advisor may talk quietly with each other.
(3) Advisors do not have the right to question witnesses except in a Hearing.
(4) Advisors cannot disclose to other persons any confidential student information which is disclosed to the advisor in the course of the grievance procedure.
(5) Advisors must act in a respectful manner at all times; bullying, yelling, and abusive conduct are never permitted.
(6) Parties and advisors must not disturb the Hearing or any other proceeding by loudly conferring with one another.
(7) Advisors must comply with the decisions and directions of the Decision-maker.

If a Party's advisor (whether designated by the Party or appointed by the University) refuses to comply with these rules, including rules relating to decorum, the University may require the Party to designate a different advisor or, if no other advisor is designated, to accept an advisor appointed by the University to conduct cross-examination on behalf of the Party. The University may remove from any proceeding advisors who become disruptive or who do not abide by the restrictions on their participation.

Informal Resolution

At any time after a Formal Complaint has been filed but before reaching a determination regarding responsibility, the University may facilitate an informal resolution process, such as mediation or restorative justice, that does not involve a full investigation and adjudication. Before the University and the Parties can proceed with an informal resolution the University must notify the Parties in writing disclosing

(1) the allegations;
(2) the requirements of the informal resolution process, including the circumstances under which it precludes the parties from resuming a Formal Complaint arising from the same allegations;
(3) that at any time prior to agreeing to a resolution, any Party has the right to withdraw from the informal resolution process and resume the grievance procedure with respect to the Formal Complaint; and
(4) any consequences resulting from participating in the informal resolution process, including the records that will be maintained or could be shared.

The University must obtain the Parties' voluntary, written consent to proceed with an informal resolution process. The formal procedures for resolving a Formal Complaint will normally be suspended during the informal resolution process. If the informal process produces a resolution that is agreed upon by the Parties in writing, the grievance procedure shall end, and no investigation or Hearing shall occur.

The University:

(1) may not require any person to waive the right to an investigation and adjudication of a Formal Complaint as a condition of enrollment or continuing enrollment, or employment or continuing employment, or enjoyment of any other right;
(2) may not require the Parties to participate in an informal resolution process;
(3) may not offer an informal resolution process unless a Formal Complaint has been filed; and
(4) may not offer or facilitate an informal resolution process to resolve allegations that an employee engaged in Sexual Harassment against a student.

Investigating Formal Complaints

The University's Responsibilities

The University will designate one or more investigators to investigate the allegations in the Formal Complaint. The burden of proof and the burden of gathering evidence sufficient to reach a determination regarding responsibility rest on the University and not on the Parties. The University shall not require, allow, rely upon, or otherwise use questions or evidence that constitute, or seek disclosure of, information protected under a legally recognized privilege unless the person holding such privilege has waived it. If the Investigator makes any determinations regarding credibility, those determinations may not be based on a person's status as a Complainant, Respondent, or witness.

The University may restrict who can be present during any meeting or proceeding related to the grievance procedure, including meetings or interviews conducted by the Investigator. However, both the Complainant and the Respondent will have the same opportunities to have others present during any grievance proceeding.

Equal Opportunity to Present and Review Evidence

In the course of the investigation, all Parties have an equal opportunity to present witnesses, including fact and expert witnesses, and other inculpatory and exculpatory evidence. The University does not restrict the ability of either Party to discuss the allegations under investigation or to gather and present relevant evidence.

Before completing the Investigative Report, the Investigator will send to each Party and the Party's advisor, if any, all of the evidence obtained as part of the investigation that is directly related to the allegations raised in the Formal Complaint, including

(1) evidence upon which the University does not intend to rely in reaching a determination regarding responsibility; and
(2) inculpatory or exculpatory evidence, whether obtained from a Party or another source.

The evidence will be subject to inspection and review by both Parties and may be provided in an electronic format, a hard copy, or a mixture of both. Each Party will have at least 10 days to submit a written response to the evidence. This written response shall be the Party's final opportunity to identify and present witnesses and other inculpatory and exculpatory evidence.

If the Investigator finds that Party has provided new evidence (including witnesses) directly related to the allegations, the Investigator will provide the new evidence to both Parties, and permit an additional 10 days for each Party to respond to the new evidence. The Investigator will consider the Parties' written responses to the evidence before completing the Investigative Report.

Medical and Treatment Records

In gathering evidence, except with the Party's voluntary, written consent the University cannot access, consider, disclose, or otherwise use a Party's records that are:

(1) made or maintained by a physician, psychiatrist, psychologist, or other recognized professional or paraprofessional acting in the professional's or paraprofessional's capacity, or assisting in that capacity; and
(2) made and maintained in connection with the provision of treatment to the Party.

The Investigation Report

After the time for a Party's written response to the evidence has expired, the Investigator will create an Investigative Report that fairly summarizes all of the relevant evidence gathered in the course of the investigation.

At least 10 days prior to the Hearing, the Investigator will send each Party and each Party's advisor a copy of the Investigative Report in an electronic format or a hard copy. A Party or a Party's advisor may make a written response to the Investigative Report by providing a copy to the Investigator and the Title IX Coordinator or Deputy Coordinator no later than noon of the last business day before the day of the Hearing. The Title IX Coordinator or Deputy Coordinator will provide a Party's written response, if any, to the other Party. A copy of the Investigative Report and all written responses by the Parties will be provided to the Decision-maker prior to the Hearing.

Pre-Hearing Procedures

When Hearings Are Required

A live hearing must be held with respect to a Formal Complaint unless the Formal Complaint has been dismissed or the Parties want to resolve the case through an informal resolution process without a completed investigation or adjudication.

The Parties cannot waive a hearing except by agreement to use the University's informal resolution process.

Preparing for the Hearing

At least 5 days before the Hearing, the University will notify each Party and advisor in writing of the date, time, location, and participants for the Hearing, including the name of each witness whom the University will request to appear at the Hearing (in person or virtually) for the purpose of providing evidence. The Hearing may be conducted with all participants physically present in the same location or, at the University's discretion, any or all Parties, witnesses, and other participants may appear virtually, with technology enabling participants simultaneously to see and hear each other.

Requesting Separate Rooms

At the request of either Party, the University will provide for the Hearing to occur with the Parties located in separate rooms using technology enabling the Decision-maker and Parties to simultaneously see and hear the Party or the witness answering questions. In order to have sufficient time to make the appropriate arrangements, a Party's request to be in a separate room must be made in writing to the Title IX Coordinator at least 3 days before the Hearing.

Attendance by Advisors

If a Party does not have an advisor present at the Hearing, the University must provide the Party an advisor of the University's choice without fee or charge to that Party. Unless the University grants a delay for good cause shown, the University shall appoint an advisor for a Party whose designated advisor is absent from the Hearing. The advisor is not required to be an attorney, and shall be responsible to conduct cross-examination on behalf of that Party.

Attendance of Parties and Witnesses; Delay for Absent Witness

The University is prohibited by law from requiring any Party or witness to appear at the Hearing, or from engaging an any act that would intimidate, threaten, coerce, or discriminate against any individual because the individual has made a report or complaint, testified, assisted, or participated or refused to participate in any manner in an investigation, grievance proceeding, or Hearing.

For these reasons, the University is not responsible if a Party or witness fails to appear at the Hearing, and the Hearing may proceed in the absence of the Party or witness. The University may grant a Party's reasonable request to delay the Hearing if that Party or an important witness is unable to attend the Hearing. A request for a delay should be made as soon as possible in the manner described below in the section of this grievance procedure entitled Temporary Delays or Extensions.

Hearing

Convening the Hearing

The Decision-maker shall convene the Hearing at the appointed time. In order to maintain students' privacy as much as possible, witnesses will not be in the Hearing room or attending by technological means except when providing evidence or being cross-examined. Parties and witnesses will not be "sworn in," but may be reminded that providing false information in connection with the Hearing is a violation of the University's code of conduct for students or expectations for employees.

Questioning Parties and Witnesses

Each Party's advisor will be given an opportunity to ask the other Party and any witnesses all relevant questions and follow-up questions, including those challenging credibility. Such cross-examination must be conducted directly, orally, and in real time by the Party's advisor, and never by a Party personally.

Before a Complainant, Respondent, or witness answers a cross-examination or other question, the Decision-maker must first determine whether the question is relevant and explain any decision to exclude a question as not relevant. The Decision-maker may ask both advisors to provide reasons why a question should or should not be considered relevant. The Decision-maker will instruct all Parties and witnesses not to answer any question until the Decision-maker has allowed the question.

Questions and evidence about the Complainant's sexual predisposition or prior sexual behavior are not relevant, unless:

(1) such questions and evidence about the Complainant's prior sexual behavior are offered to prove that someone other than the Respondent committed the conduct alleged by the Complainant, or

(2) the questions and evidence concern specific incidents of the Complainant's prior sexual behavior with respect to the Respondent and are offered to prove consent.

The Decision-maker shall not permit any questions, nor the introduction of any evidence, that would involve the disclosure of information protected under a legally-recognized privilege under state law unless the person holding the privilege has waived it.

Because the University's grievance procedure is not a civil proceeding or state action, there is no right against self-incrimination. However, the Decision-maker cannot draw an inference regarding responsibility based solely on a Party's or witness's absence from the Hearing or refusal to answer cross-examination or other questions.

Availability of Evidence

The University will make all of the evidence that was subject to inspection and review by the Parties in connection with the preparation of the Investigative Report available at the Hearing to give each Party equal opportunity to refer to such evidence during the Hearing, including for purposes of cross-examination. Parties must notify the Title IX Coordinator at least 72 hours (not including Saturday or Sunday) prior to the Hearing regarding any physical evidence, transcripts, recordings, or other items requested to be physically available at the Hearing.

Conducting the Hearing

The Hearing will be conducted substantially as provided below. The Decision-maker may recess the Hearing for appropriate and reasonable rest and meal breaks. Any Hearing participant may request a break.

1. The Investigator or Title IX Coordinator/Deputy Coordinator will serve as the moderator for the Hearing. The function of the moderator is to move the proceeding forward in an unbiased manner and to give the Parties and witnesses an opportunity to get their evidence before the Decision-maker.

2. The moderator will review the Complainant's allegations and review the evidence provided by the Complainant and summarized in the Investigative Report. The moderator will ask the Complainant whether he or she wishes to affirm the allegations and evidence as reviewed, and whether he or she would like to make any additional statements.

3. The Respondent's advisor will be given an opportunity to question the Complainant.

4. The moderator will review the Respondent's response to the allegations and review the evidence provided by the Respondent and summarized in the Investigative Report. The moderator will ask the Respondent whether he or she wishes to affirm the response and evidence as reviewed, and whether he or she would like to make any additional statements.

5. The Complainant's advisor will be given an opportunity to question the Respondent.

6. The moderator will bring each witness before the Decision-maker, either in person or through appropriate technology. The moderator will review any evidence provided by the witness and summarized in the Investigative Report. The moderator will ask the witness whether he or she wishes to affirm the evidence as reviewed.

7. The Complainant's advisor will be given an opportunity to question the witness.

8. The Respondent's advisor will be given an opportunity to question the witness.

9. If the University has provided any relevant evidence summarized in the Investigative Report, an appropriate representative or representatives of the University will review such evidence.

10. The Complainant's advisor will be given an opportunity to question the University's representative(s).

11. The Respondent's advisor will be given an opportunity to question the University's representative(s).

12. The Decision-maker may ask questions of any Party, witness, or University representative during the time that person is presenting evidence or being questioned.

13. After confirming with the moderator that there is no additional evidence or other matters to be addressed, the Decision-maker will adjourn the Hearing.

Record of the Hearing

The University will create an audio or audiovisual recording, or transcript, of the Hearing and make it available to the Parties and to the Decision-maker for inspection and review.

Determination of the Allegations

Letter of Determination

The Decision-maker shall determine whether the Respondent is responsible for each of the allegations in the Formal Complaint that could constitute Sexual Harassment. The Decision-maker shall reach these decisions by applying the preponderance of the evidence standard. In making the determination, the Decision-maker:

(1) must make an objective evaluation of all relevant evidence – including both inculpatory and exculpatory evidence.
(2) must not make credibility determinations based on a person's status as a Complainant, Respondent, or witness.
(3) cannot draw an inference about responsibility based solely on a Party's or witness's absence from the live hearing or refusal to answer cross-examination or other questions.
(4) cannot rely upon evidence or information protected under a legally recognized privilege unless the person holding the privilege has waived it.

The Decision-maker may consider any statement made by a Party or witness that is otherwise permitted to be considered even if the person who made the statement does not submit to cross-examination at the Hearing. For example, the Decision-maker may consider statements made by the Parties or witnesses during the investigation, emails or text exchanges by a Party leading up to the alleged sexual harassment, and statements about the alleged sexual harassment which the Decision-maker determines to be relevant under this Policy, regardless of whether the person who made the statement submits to cross-examination at the Hearing. The Decision-maker may also consider police reports, Sexual Assault Nurse Examiner documents, medical reports, and other documents even if those documents contain statements of a Party or witness who is not cross-examined at the Hearing.

The Decision-maker shall issue a written determination stating the Respondent's responsibility for the alleged misconduct. The written determination must include:

(1) Identification of the allegations potentially constituting Sexual Harassment;
(2) A description of the procedural steps taken from the receipt of the formal complaint through the determination, including any notifications to the Parties, interviews with Parties and witnesses, site visits, methods used to gather other evidence, and hearings held;
(3) Findings of fact supporting the determination;
(4) Conclusions regarding the application of the University's code of conduct to the facts;
(5) A statement of, and rationale for, the result as to each allegation, including a determination regarding responsibility, any disciplinary sanctions the University imposes on the respondent, and whether remedies designed to restore or preserve equal access to the University's education program or activity will be provided by the University to the complainant; and
(6) The University's procedures and permissible bases for the complainant and respondent to appeal.

The Decision-maker shall exercise independent and unbiased judgment with respect to:

(1) findings of fact which support the determination(s);
(2) conclusions regarding the application of the University's code of conduct to the facts;
(3) the determination regarding responsibility as to each allegation; and
(4) the rationale for the Decision-maker's conclusions.

The Decision-maker may consult with University officials for information with respect to the procedural steps taken, the University's normal practices relating to appropriate sanctions, and the University's procedures and permissible bases for appeals.

Effective Date of Determination

The University will provide the written determination regarding responsibility to the Parties simultaneously. If neither Party appeals, the determination becomes final on the date on which an appeal would no longer be considered timely.

If a Party appeals the determination, the determination becomes effective on the date the University provides the Parties with the written determination of the result of the appeal, unless the appeal decision requires further proceedings.

The Title IX Coordinator is responsible for effective implementation of any sanctions or remedies.

Sanctions

The University can impose a range of disciplinary sanctions and remedies with respect to any misconduct for which a Respondent has been determined to be responsible. Possible disciplinary sanctions and remedies include:

(1) Imposing, continuing, or modifying any Supportive Measures.
(2) Warning: A reminder to the respondent about relevant university rules, regulations, or policies and the potential consequences for violating them.
(3) No contact order: A directive to initiate no contact with the Complainant, including contact in person or by phone, email, text message, social network, or any other means, either directly or through a third party.
(4) Reprimand: Written notice that university rules, regulations, or policies have been violated and that continuation or repetition of misconduct may result in a more severe sanction.
(5) Fines: A monetary fine assessed for a disciplinary violation.
(6) Probation: Written notice explaining the serious nature of misconduct and outlining the terms of probation. The terms of probation may prohibit a student from participating in co-curricular activities and provide for expulsion for violating the terms of probation.
(7) Restitution: Reimbursement or other compensation for damage or loss of property.
(8) Eviction: Probation or removal from campus housing.
(9) Suspension- Termination of student status at the university for a specified period of time.
(10) Expulsion- Termination of student status at the university permanently or for an indefinite period of time.
(11) Other – Other sanction appropriate to the case.

Appeals

Right of Appeal

Both Parties may appeal from a determination regarding responsibility, or from the University's dismissal of all or any part of a Formal Complaint. The appeal procedures shall apply equally to both Parties.

Any of the following is an appropriate basis for appeal:

(1) Procedural irregularity that affected the outcome of the matter;
(2) New evidence that was not reasonably available at the time the determination regarding responsibility or dismissal was made; or
(3) The Title IX Coordinator, Investigator, or Decision-maker had a conflict of interest or bias for or against Complainants or Respondents generally or the individual Complainant or Respondent that affected the outcome of the matter.

Filing an Appeal

In order to appeal, a Party must file a written Notice of Appeal challenging the initial outcome that is received by the Title IX Coordinator within 10 days after the written Letter of Determination was issued. The Notice of Appeal must state, at a minimum:

(1) every basis for the appeal;
(2) a complete statement of the facts and evidence that support each basis for the appeal; and
(3) the relief requested as a result of the appeal.

Consideration of an Appeal

The University will promptly notify both Parties in writing that an appeal has been filed and provide a copy of the Notice of Appeal to the other Party. The non-appealing Party shall have 10 days from the date of such notice to submit to the Title IX Coordinator a written statement in support of the initial outcome or in opposition to the appeal. A copy of any such written statement shall be provided to the appealing Party.

The appeal shall be considered and decided by an Appeal Decision-maker who is not the same person as the Investigator, the Title IX Coordinator, or the Decision-maker that reached the determination regarding responsibility or dismissal. The Appeal Decision-maker shall review the Notice of Appeal, the response of the non-appealing Party, and may review the record of the Hearing as necessary to reach a conclusion on the appeal. The Appeal Decision-maker shall be bound by the same rules and considerations which apply to a Decision-maker, as described in this grievance procedure.

Decision on Appeal

The Appeal Decision-maker shall issue a written decision describing the result of the appeal and the rationale for the result. The written decision shall, insofar as applicable, provide the same type of information required to be included in the initial written determination issued in connection with the Hearing.

The decision on appeal shall be appropriate to the basis or bases for appeal, and may adopt one or more of the following holdings, regardless of which Party filed the appeal:

(1) Affirm the initial written determination;
(2) Change any part of the written determination, including a change to find responsibility or to find no responsibility;
(3) Increase or decrease the sanctions;
(4) Require additional investigation (particularly in the case of new evidence that is material, not merely cumulative, and if presented in the Hearing could reasonably have resulted in a different determination); or
(5) Order a new Hearing

The written decision on the appeal shall be provided simultaneously to both Parties.

Scheduled Time Frames for the Grievance Procedure

Normal Time Frames

The University will conclude this grievance procedure in a reasonably prompt manner and in accordance with the following time frames:

(1) The University will generally issue the written Hearing determination within 10 business days after the filing of the Formal Complaint.
(2) The University will generally issue the written appeal determination within 20 business days after the filing of the Notice of Appeal.
(3) The University will generally conclude any informal resolution process within 30 business days after the Parties agree to an informal resolution.

Temporary Delays or Extensions

The University may direct a temporary delay in the grievance procedure or the limited extension of the normal time frames for good cause. The University will notify the Complainant and the Respondent in writing of any temporary delay or limited extension and the reasons for the action.

The Complainant or Respondent may request a temporary delay or limited extension in writing to the Title IX Coordinator/Deputy Coordinator. The written request must state the reason for the delay or extension and the length of the delay or extension being requested.

Some examples of situations which may constitute good cause for a delay or extension include: the absence of a Party, a Party's advisor, or a witness; concurrent law enforcement activity; or the need for language assistance or accommodation of disabilities.

The University will attempt to accommodate the schedules of Parties and witnesses throughout the grievance procedure in order to provide Parties with a meaningful opportunity to exercise their lawful rights. However, the University will not delay the grievance procedure indefinitely because a Party, witness, or advisor is refusing to cooperate. In order to resolve complaints within reasonable time frames, the grievance procedure can proceed to conclusion even in the absence of a Party or witness.

Retaliation Prohibited

Retaliation Defined

Retaliation shall include the following:

(1) Conduct intended to intimidate, threaten, coerce, or discriminate against any individual for the purpose of interfering with any right or privilege secured by Title IX, 34 CFR Part 106, or this grievance procedure.
(2) Bringing disciplinary charges against an individual for code of conduct violations that do not involve sex discrimination or Sexual Harassment, but arise out of the same facts or circumstances as a report or complaint of sex discrimination, or a report or Formal Complaint, for the purpose of interfering with any right or privilege secured by Title IX, 34 CFR Part 106, or this grievance procedure.

No Retaliation

Neither the University nor any other person may engage in retaliation against an individual because the individual has made a report or complaint or testified, assisted, participated, or refused to participate in any manner in an investigation, proceeding, or Hearing under this grievance procedure.

Any person who believes that he or she has experienced retaliation which is prohibited by this grievance procedure may file a complaint or Formal Complaint with the Title IX Coordinator.

Confidentiality

The University must keep confidential the identity of:

(1) any individual who has made a report or complaint of sex discrimination;
(2) any individual who has made a report or filed a Formal Complaint of Sexual Harassment;
(3) any Complainant;
(4) any individual who has been reported to be the perpetrator of sex discrimination;
(5) any Respondent; and
(6) any witness except as may be permitted by law or as necessary to carry out this grievance procedure.

Student Physical or Mental Health Emergencies

The university is concerned about the well-being of its students. Behavior by a student, including verbal conduct, which demonstrates a desire to inflict harm upon others, or upon oneself, is taken seriously.

The university can respond as described below in the event of a physical or mental health emergency involving a student. As with all university policies, the university will apply this policy in a manner which does not illegally discriminate against students on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, disability, or age.

Physical or Mental Health Emergency Procedures

If a student requires assistance because of an immediate crisis or life-threatening situation, the Department of Public Safety should be notified immediately at ext. 4444 or dial 911.

If a student observes anyone harming, attempting to harm, or stating an intent to harm himself, herself, or another person, the student should report the matter immediately to the Director of Student Development, the Department of Public Safety, or the Counseling Center.

Individual Threat Assessment

The Director of Student Development will initiate an individual threat assessment of any student if the Director has reason to believe that the student has (a) engaged in or threatened to engage in behavior which creates a direct threat to the health or safety of another person or a high probability of substantial harm to the student himself or herself; (b) contracted a contagious disease or virus which creates a direct threat to the health or safety of another person or a high probability of substantial harm to the student; (c) caused or is likely to cause a substantial disruption in the university's academic or other programs; or (d) damaged or threatened to damage another's property.

The threat assessment will be made by the Director of Student Development along with other people the Director may select. Before prohibiting a student with a documented or perceived disability from participating in or benefitting from the university's services, programs or activities, the university will make an individualized assessment of the direct threat posed by the student or the risk of self-harm, whichever applies. The determination that a student poses a direct threat to the health or safety of others or that a substantial risk of self-harm exists must be based on an individualized and objective assessment, rather than on speculation about future risk. The determination must be based on reasonable judgment founded on the most current medical knowledge from qualified professionals or on the best available medical evidence. Factors to be considered in the direct threat determination are the duration, nature and severity of the risk; the probability that the potential injury will actually occur; and whether reasonable modifications of the university's policies, practices, or procedures, or the provision of auxiliary aids and services, will mitigate the risk. The university will attempt to consult with individuals with in-depth knowledge and experience in the area of the student's disability as part of the direct threat determination.

The assessment will be based upon the student's conduct, actions, and statements in order to create an individualized and objective assessment of the student's ability to participate safely in the school's programs. Unless the circumstances make it impractical or impossible, a student will be given notice that a threat assessment is being made and an opportunity to be heard before any adverse action is taken with respect to the student. When evaluating a risk of self-harm, the university will notify the student that it is conducting an individualized assessment, provide information about the process, and give the student an opportunity to contribute information as requested by the university. Any appropriate accommodation or adjustments will be considered.

The Director of Student Development will take action with respect to a particular student only if it is determined that the situation creates a high probability of substantial harm rather than merely a slightly increased, speculative, or remote risk of harm. Action will never be taken on the basis of generalizations or stereotypes about the effects of a particular disability or condition.

If the university determines a student poses a direct threat to others or an imminent risk of self-harm, the university may condition the student's future receipt of a benefit or service upon the student's provision of appropriate documentation. The documentation may include, but not be limited to, a treatment plan or periodic reports from a physician. The university will not, however, condition the provision of a benefit or service upon a showing by a student that he or she has eliminated behaviors that are a manifestation of a disability, unless such behavior significantly contributed to the direct threat or risk of self-harm.

Where safety is of immediate concern, the university may set interim conditions on the student while completing the assessment, provided that the student is given notice of the university's actions and is provided an opportunity to respond as soon as practical.

Responses and Interventions

The Director of Student Development will notify the student of any restrictions, interventions, or conditions imposed on the student as a result of the threat assessment, which may include:

- A required course of medical treatment or mental health counseling;
- Removal from university housing;
- Removal from one or more classes or activities;
- Removal from the campus;
- Withdrawal from the university; or
- Withholding other or additional benefits or services of the university as may be appropriate.

Restrictions or conditions imposed on a student under this procedure are not disciplinary in nature and will not be entered in the student's educational records as arising from disciplinary violations. However, if the student violates any restrictions imposed, the violation may result in disciplinary action in accordance with the student disciplinary process.

It is the sole responsibility of the student to obtain at his/her expense any services which are necessary as a result of restrictions imposed by the Director of Student Development, such as alternative lodging, academic tutoring, or medical treatment. All alternative lodging arrangements must be approved by the Director of Student Development or the Director of Residence Life.

Appeals Process

A student may appeal decisions rendered by the Director for Student Development by making a written appeal to the Vice President for Student Affairs within ten (10) calendar days after the decision is communicated. The student may submit medical evaluations, statements, or other pertinent information along with the appeal. The Vice President for Student Affairs shall review any material provided by the student, the individual threat assessment, the decision of the Director for Student Development, and such other information as he or she may consider appropriate. A decision on the appeal shall be made within five (5) business days or as soon thereafter as practical. The student shall be notified in writing of the Vice President for Student Affairs' decision, which shall be final. Any restrictions, interventions, or sanctions shall remain in effect before and during the appeal unless the Vice President for Student Affairs determines otherwise.

Reinstatement Process

The restrictions, interventions, or sanctions imposed may be removed only with express permission from the Director of Student Development or VP for Student Affairs. Upon the student's request for reinstatement, the Director of Student Development will clearly communicate to the student a specific reinstatement process, which may include:

- Evaluation by a qualified health care professional. If the situation constitutes a medical or psychological emergency, the student may obtain an evaluation from a local emergency room physician. If the student is currently under the care of a qualified health care professional, that person may evaluate the student. If the student is not currently in treatment, he or she will need to contact the qualified health care provider of his/her choice. If the student needs assistance with this process, he or she may contact the Student Affairs Office.

- Communication of evaluation results by the qualified health care professional to the Director of Student Development. This will require written authorization by the student to the healthcare professional. Evaluation results must substantiate (1) the readiness of the student to return to residential facilities, classes, and/or activities, and (2) any recommendations for continuing treatment. For preliminary purposes, the health care professional may communicate this information verbally; however, it is mandatory that written evaluation results be provided promptly.

- Reinstatement interview with the Director of Student Development. The student must schedule an interview with Director of Student Development during office hours (8 a.m. – 5 p.m., Monday – Friday). If the Director is not available, the student may contact the Vice President for Student Affairs. If the Director of Student Development determines that the student is able to resume restricted activities, the student will be provided a reinstatement letter.

Student Role in Decision-Making

University of the Cumberlands recognizes that students have innovative ideas and can offer constructive suggestions which, when implemented, improve the general welfare of the students and general tone of the institution itself. These goals are achieved most effectively by affording students a participatory role in decision-making. University sponsors and administrators advising student groups reserve the right to be final decision makers for any issues or actions that is in the best interest of the student group, the student body, and the University.

Students serve on various standing committees of the University and have full voting rights. Committee assignments are made by students for the good of students under the auspices of the Student Government Association (SGA). Finally, the SGA Senate and SGA Grievance Committee provide additional forums for the presentation of ideas which are considered in resolving matters affecting student welfare.

Students serve on the following standing committees, Education Preparation Advisory, Facilities and Equipment, Faculty Evaluation, Health Education, , Library, Safety and Security, Student Honors, Student Life, and Student Media.

DEFINITIONS:
Discrimination Grievance: Any complaint regarding conduct or circumstances that may violate the university's nondiscrimination policies.

Academic Appeal: An appeal to change any academic decision of the university.
Academic Appeals related to coursework, academic standing, and grades will not be covered in this section. Please refer to page 11- 12 in this Handbook or the Academic Catalog.

If the university's offices are closed on the date some action or response is due, the action or response will be due on the next university business day. The university may extend the date for a response if necessary due to breaks in the university calendar or other extenuating circumstances.

A student may inquire about the grievance and appeal process in the following areas by contacting the designated office or individual:

- Academic grievances concerning an academic experience, grades or academic discipline, such as plagiarism, class absence, etc:
  - Contact: Vice President for Academic Affairs
- Academic Standing concerning probation/suspension or academic bankruptcy:
  - Contact: Registrar
- Harassment involving faculty, staff, or students (see Grievance Policy for Discrimination or Sexual Harassment on page 34):
  - Contact: Title IX Coordinator or Deputy Title IX Coordinator
- Student grievances concerning any aspect of student affairs. This could include social discipline, student conduct, and other grievances or concerns involving faculty, staff, or students, as well as other portions of the nondiscrimination policy:
  - Contact: Director of Student Development or Vice President for Student Affairs

Discrimination Grievance Process. A complaint regarding any conduct or situation that would violate the university's nondiscrimination policy should be reported to the appropriate coordinator named in the university's nondiscrimination policy (see Student Handbook, page 2). Although an initial complaint can be made orally, persons are encouraged to make all discrimination grievances in writing.

The university will conduct a fair and unbiased investigation that is reasonable under the circumstances of any Discrimination Grievance. If a violation of the nondiscrimination policy is found, the university will take prompt action to end the discrimination and to remedy the effects of any previous discrimination as appropriate.

For more information, contact the designated discrimination coordinator. More information about filing a grievance for sexual harassment or sexual assault can be found on page 34 in the Harassment section of this handbook.

GRIEVANCE & APPEAL STEP-BY-STEP PROCESS

STEP ONE: Local Resolution

The university attempts to resolve General Grievances through Local Resolution when possible. Local Resolution allows issues to be addressed by the leadership closest to the issue for a more efficient and timely resolution.

Students are encouraged to discuss General Grievances directly with the parties involved and relevant department leaders whenever possible. Students who do not know the appropriate university employee to contact to discuss a General Grievance may contact the Vice President for Student Affairs or Director of Student Development to find out the best contact.

STEP TWO: Grievance and Appeal Evaluation

If the Local Resolution process does not resolve the issue, the student may proceed to Step Two by filing a formal written grievance or an incident report form, as described in Student Handbook Section "Reporting an Incident to the University," pg, 25. A student may file a formal grievance or appeal any adverse or unfair decision by a program, department, faculty, or staff member of the University, including a disciplinary decision for violation of University rules and regulations rendered ten (10) calendar days after the decision is communicated.

The formal grievance or incident report form must include a comprehensive and detailed written statement that includes all relevant documentation, notes, and evidence. The student should clearly identify any relief being requested.

The written grievance or incident report must be submitted through the web form, via email, or hand-delivered to the Director of Student Development. The Director of Student Development will be responsible for directing the grievance to the appropriate Vice President.

Upon receiving the formal written grievance, the Vice President will review and evaluate it based on the following criteria:

A. Evidence and Documentation: Is the grievance supported by relevant evidence or documentation substantiating the claims?

B. Serious Allegations: Does the grievance raise allegations of a serious nature? (Allegations of discrimination, harassment, or sexual assault in violation of the university's nondiscrimination policy will always be referred to the appropriate nondiscrimination coordinator.)

C. New Information: Does the grievance contain new information unavailable when it was considered in Local Resolution?

D. Faulty Policies or Process: Does the grievance allege that university policies are inadequate or have not been properly implemented?

E. Complex Issues: Does the grievance involve issues that are complex or require interpretations of university policies or procedures that could not be accomplished in Local Resolution?

F. Impact on Rights: Does the grievance concern significant rights or the welfare of one or more individuals within the university community?

G. Failure of Local Resolution. Did the university's representatives fail to properly implement the Local Resolution process?

After balancing these criteria, the Vice President shall choose to proceed in one of the following ways:

(1) Determine that the grievance or appeal lacks sufficient merit for any further action and terminate the grievance process by providing a written notice of dismissal of the grievance to the student.
(2) Take action within the Vice President's authority to resolve the grievance in whole or in part and then terminate the grievance process by providing a written notice to the student setting out any action taken and dismissing the grievance.
(3) Elevate the grievance or appeal to Step Three and assign it to the appropriate process in that step.

STEP THREE: Assignment to the appropriate University Grievance and Appeal Process

 The processes outlined below may not begin until a student's grievance or appeal has been deemed to have merit according to the criteria in Step Two and subsequently assigned to that process by the evaluating Vice President.*

Academic Affairs Grievance Process

Academic Appeals related to coursework, academic standing, and grades will not be covered in this section. Please refer to pages 11- 12 in this Handbook or the Academic Catalog.*

Both undergraduate and graduate students have the right to express concerns about their academic experience. Before filing a formal grievance or appeal, students must first discuss the issue with the course instructor and/or department chair to seek a local resolution. If a local resolution cannot be achieved, the formal appeal or grievance will be assessed based on the criteria outlined in Step Two. If the appeal meets the criteria, the Vice President for Academic Affairs will forward it to the Social Discipline and Grievance Committee for further consideration.

Student Affairs Grievance Process

Both undergraduate and graduate students are extended the opportunity to share any aspect of their student experience concerning student conduct, social discipline, or other grievances or concerns regarding other students, faculty, staff, and other portions of the nondiscrimination policy.

The investigation process begins when a written formal grievance or incident report form, as described in the Student Handbook Section "Reporting an Incident to the University," pg, 25, is submitted through the web form, via email, or hand-delivered to the Director of Student Development.

A formal grievance should be a comprehensive and detailed written statement that includes all relevant documentation, notes, and evidence. All parties included in the formal grievance will be notified in writing and offered the opportunity to respond in writing.

The Office of Student Development will coordinate the investigation and review of formal grievances. A non-biased University administrator completes grievance investigations and evaluations. If additional allegations or violations are revealed during the investigation, the Office of Student Development will respond whether these are linked to the Complainant or Respondent.

Students have the right to appeal decisions made by university officials regarding student conduct cases, grievances, or incidents, provided their appeal meets one or more of the criteria outlined in Step Two. If the Vice President evaluates the appeal and determines it qualifies, students may submit a written appeal regarding any outcome or action to the Chancellor within ten days of the event for review by the Social Discipline and Grievance Committee.

Student Appeals- The Social Discipline & Grievance Committee Process

Specific appeal procedures for certain matters outside of student appeals (e.g., appeal of an academic decision, prohibited discrimination, or a Title IX grievance) are described in this Handbook or the applicable Catalog. In such cases, only that specific appeal procedure applies.

In Step Two, if the Vice President for Student or Academic Affairs finds that an appeal or complex grievance has merit, the formal written statement will be forwarded to the Chancellor and assigned to the Social Discipline and Grievance Committee for review.

Any restrictions, interventions, or sanctions shall remain in effect before and during the appeal unless advised otherwise by a university official.

After receiving a written appeal, the Director of Student Development will collect all relevant information on behalf of the Social Discipline/Grievance Committee for their review and consideration. The Director will contact any party (faculty, staff, or other individuals) with knowledge or evidence of the events and circumstances alleged in the appeal and provide those parties with an opportunity to respond with a formal statement, documentation, or any other relevant evidence. The Committee may request additional information from the student or any other relevant parties.

The Committee will deliver its recommendation on the appeal to the Chancellor within 30 days of the initial filing. The Chancellor, in consultation with the President, will affirm the decision, make a different determination or decision, or change any sanctions or penalties imposed on the student. The decision of the Chancellor is final.

The Chancellor will promptly inform the student of the disposition of the appeal. A final determination of a General Grievance will generally be provided within six weeks of its initial filing. However, the time frames for a response may be extended by the Chancellor if necessary due to breaks in the university calendar or other extenuating circumstances.

Recordkeeping

Upon the conclusion of a General Grievance, all records relating to the matter, including records of the Chancellor, Office of Student Development, or Social Discipline/Grievance Committee, shall be transferred to the Director for Student Development and maintained in accordance with the university's records retention policies.

Public Safety & Operations

Public Safety

At University of the Cumberlands, the safety and security of our students and staff is of the utmost importance. The University developed policies and procedures for the Williamsburg and Florence campuses to ensure that students are in the safest environment possible, and further, maintains an emergency response and action plan.

The Department of Public Safety operates out of the Bock Dispatch Center at the Williamsburg Campus. The Bock Dispatch Center maintains direct contact with the Williamsburg Police Department, Whitley County 911 Dispatch, and the Florence PD Dispatch center. Public Safety Dispatchers are available 24/7 and maintain 24-hour coverage of public safety systems, that include but are not limited to: monitoring security cameras, monitoring card and building access, monitoring the Campus Emergency Extension (ext. 4444), and coordination of maintenance concerns.

The Williamsburg campus has full-time contracted police officers who patrol main campus, monitor traffic, assist students and staff when needed, and provide escort services when needed. Most academic buildings at the main campus are on a set door schedule of Monday-Friday, 7am-5:15pm, with after-hours access available upon request and approval for meetings, events, etc. The Williamsburg campus Residence Halls are only accessible by card access or authorized access.

The Florence campus has a full-time Facilities Coordinator on-site, Monday-Friday, 7:30am-4:30pm. The Facilities Coordinator is available to monitor building access and security cameras, coordinate maintenance concerns with main campus, and provide escort services when needed, during normal business hours. The Facilities Coordinator is available to monitor building access and security cameras and coordinate maintenance concerns with main campus during normal business hours. The Florence campus is only accessible by card access or authorized access Monday-Friday until 10pm unless otherwise approved.

Patriot ALERT Campus Safety & Preparedness Initiative

The University of the Cumberlands utilizes the Patriot ALERT Campus Safety & Preparedness Initiative as a comprehensive campus-wide program focused on safety awareness, emergency preparedness, training, emergency communications, and community engagement.
Patriot ALERT reflects the University's commitment to leading a culture of safety through:

- Awareness
- Leadership
- Emergency Preparedness
- Response
- Training

Patriot ALERT serves as the University's unified approach to campus safety by bringing together emergency communications, preparedness education, safety awareness efforts, emergency response planning, and community engagement under a single, recognizable program.
The Patriot ALERT initiative is powered by PatriotSafe, the University's official safety app. PatriotSafe provides faculty, staff, students, and visitors with direct access to emergency notifications, safety resources, preparedness information, reporting tools, and critical campus safety communications through a mobile platform.

Patriot ALERT initiatives may include:

- Emergency preparedness education
- Safety awareness campaigns
- Emergency notification systems and mass communication platforms
- PatriotSafe mobile safety app and resources
- Building-specific preparedness planning
- Training exercises and drills
- Emergency communication and response coordination
- Community engagement and preparedness outreach
- Emergency reporting tools and safety resources available through PatriotSafe
- Emergency notification testing and awareness campaigns

Through Patriot ALERT, the University seeks to strengthen situational awareness, improve communication, encourage shared responsibility for safety, and provide faculty, staff, students, and campus partners with the knowledge and resources necessary to respond effectively during emergencies and critical incidents.

The Patriot ALERT initiative includes the University's emergency notification platform, PatriotSafe mobile safety app, preparedness training programs, departmental preparedness meetings, residence hall safety initiatives, campus-wide emergency awareness efforts, and emergency response coordination activities.

All Patriot ALERT initiatives are administered by the Office of Public Safety with oversight provided by the Director of Facilities & Safety in collaboration with campus leadership and community response partners.

Students

UC students will be assigned mandatory training modules every other month based on the topics outlined in this document. All assigned mandatory training must be completed within thirty (30) calendar days of the assignment date. Optional training opportunities may also be made available throughout each academic term to support professional development; however, participation in optional training does not fulfill, replace, or exempt a student from any assigned mandatory training requirement.

Emergency Notification System (ENS)

The University utilizes an automated Emergency Notification System (ENS) to notify all University stakeholders, that have opted for the service, in the event of an emergency at any University campus. The service allows approved University officials the ability to send ENS alerts simultaneously via SMS text, email, voice message, and mobile app. University officials sending ENS alerts are able to access an online internet portal to type the message or they may call a 24-hour/7 day-a-week telephone support line to have an attendant create and send alerts to all campuses.

The University allows any person interested in the ENS program to do so on the University's website at https://www.ucumberlands.edu/emergency-notification. Enrollment is at no cost to the enrollee. Beginning in August of each year, the enrollment process is reset and faculty, staff, students, parents, campus vendor employees, and local emergency support personnel are asked to re-enroll in the system to ensure current contact information. Upon enrolling in the ENS, a confirmation message is sent to the email and SMS text accounts provided by the enrollee to ensure accuracy.

ENS alerts are sent to communicate dangerous conditions which require the immediate attention of all people at that campus/location. Scenarios presenting immediate danger may include community or campus emergencies requiring evacuation or confinement. ENS messages will be kept brief and will contain short commands that give recipients an idea of the action required.

The ENS program is voluntary, meaning no user is required to enroll. This program is a tool used by University officials to communicate in a rapid, concise manner to those that may be affected by an emergency. Although the ENS is designed with many redundant factors to ensure a high probability that accurate messages will be sent and received, the University does not guarantee that this system will work 100% of the time.

PatriotSafe Mobile Safety App

PatriotSafe puts key safety tools in one mobile location.

Emergency Alerts Receive safety alerts and critical notifications.	Report a Concern Share suspicious activity or safety concerns.	Safety Resources Access procedures, contacts, and preparedness guidance.
Emergency Procedures Review response guidance when quick action matters.	Campus Information Find location-specific safety resources and support.	Preparedness Guidance Build awareness before, during, and after incidents.

PatriotSafe is the University of the Cumberlands' official safety app and serves as an important component of the Patriot ALERT Campus Safety & Preparedness Initiative.

The app supports campus safety and emergency preparedness efforts by providing users with convenient access to safety resources and emergency communications. PatriotSafe may be utilized to:

- Receive emergency notifications and safety alerts
- Access emergency procedures and preparedness guidance
- Report suspicious activity and safety concerns
- Obtain contact information for Public Safety and emergency resources
- Review campus safety information and preparedness materials
- Access location-specific safety resources and response guidance
- Support personal preparedness and situational awareness

Faculty, staff, and students are encouraged to download and utilize PatriotSafe as part of their personal preparedness efforts and to remain informed during emergencies and critical incidents.

Reporting Criminal Activity

Any student who is the victim or, or has knowledge of, conduct which may constitute a crime is encouraged to report the matter to local law enforcement by dialing 911, followed by contacting the Office of Public Safety. A Campus Incident Report, available through the PatrtiotSafe mobile app and on the Safety Page of the University's website, should be completed to report criminal activity to the proper authorities on campus, which includes the Office of Public Safety, the Office of Facilities & Safety, and the Office of Student Affairs. Campus Incident Reports completed online will automatically be sent to the proper campus authorities. All other Incident Reports should be delivered to either the Office of Facilities & Safety or the Office of Student Affairs.

Annual Security and Fire Safety Reports

In compliance with federal reporting requirements, the University publishes annual security and fire safety reports. These reports include statistics for the previous three years concerning reportable crimes and fires that occurred on-campus, in certain off-campus buildings, or property owned or controlled by the University and on public property within, or immediately adjacent to and accessible from all University campuses. These reports also include important University policies concerning campus safety.

The University's annual Fire and Safety Reports for all campuses are available for review online at https://www.ucumberlands.edu/safety/reports. A paper copy of a report can be obtained as provided in the Report (see page 13).

Campus Hazing Transparency Report

In compliance with federal and Kentucky law, the University enforces a zero-tolerance policy against hazing:

- Under the federal Stop Campus Hazing Act (effective January 1, 2025), any intentional, knowing, or reckless act that violates law and endangers a student is defined as hazing. These incidents must be reported in the University's annual security reports, and the University must maintain comprehensive anti-hazing policies, reporting procedures, investigative processes, and prevention programs.

- At the state level, Kentucky's "Lofton's Law" (Senate Bill 9, 2023) classifies hazing that results in serious physical injury or death as a Class D felony, and reckless hazing as a Class A misdemeanor, with no defense of consent or organizational sanction.

- Additionally, KRS 164.375 requires that all public Kentucky higher-ed institutions adopt and enforce policies prohibiting any action that recklessly or intentionally jeopardizes students' mental or physical health, or forces the consumption of alcohol or drugs, as part of initiation or affiliation.

These federal and state statutes underscore the University's commitment to student safety. Violations may result in both University disciplinary actions and criminal prosecution.

In compliance with federal reporting requirements, the University publishes biannually (at least 2 times per year), from the date on which the report was last published and ending on the date on which such update was submitted.

What is Hazing?

"The term 'hazing' means any intentional, knowing, or reckless act committed by a person (whether individually or in concert with other persons) against another person or persons regardless of the willingness of such other person or persons to participate, that:

• is committed in the course of an initiation into, an affiliation with, or the maintenance of membership in, a student organization; and

• causes or creates a risk, above the reasonable risk encountered in the course of participation in the institution of higher education or the organization (such as the physical preparation necessary for participation in an athletic team), of physical or psychological injury including—

- whipping, beating, striking, electronic shocking, placing of a harmful substance on someone's body, or similar activity;
- causing, coercing, or otherwise inducing sleep deprivation, exposure to the elements, confinement in a small space, extreme calisthenics, or other similar activity;
- causing, coercing, or otherwise inducing another person to consume food, liquid, alcohol, drugs, or other substances;

- causing, coercing, or otherwise inducing another person to perform sexual acts;
- any activity that places another person in reasonable fear of bodily harm through the use of threatening words or conduct;
- any activity against another person that includes a criminal violation of local, State, Tribal, or Federal law; and
- any activity that induces, causes, or requires another person to perform a duty or task that involves a criminal violation of local, State, Tribal, or Federal law."

• A student organization is defined as "an organization at an institution of higher education (such as a club, society, association, varsity or junior varsity athletic team, club sports team, fraternity, sorority, band, or student government) in which two or more of the members are students enrolled at the institution of higher education, whether or not the organization is established or recognized by the institution".

Report an Incident of Hazing

Students, Faculty, and Staff are encouraged to report any violation of UC's student standards of conduct that they witness or have knowledge of.

Examples include, but are not limited to, accident/injury, conduct violations, sexual harassment (detailed in Title IX page 33), other portions of the nondiscrimination policy, crimes, hazing, etc.

Emergency Report

If you witness or experience any emergency involving hazing or any other crime of violence, or if you have immediate safety concerns, first call 911, then call the Department of Public Safety at 606-539-4444.

How to Report

Any member of the university can submit an incident report through email, phone, or other messaging, as well as using the below Incident Report Form link found on https://www.ucumberlands.edu/safety and then click on the "Campus User Reporting Form" link.

Hazing Investigative and Outcome Process

The University of the Cumberlands strictly prohibits hazing in any form. Allegations of hazing involving any student or student organization will be promptly and thoroughly investigated by the Office of Student Affairs and the Department of Public Safety. Upon receiving a report, the University will conduct a fact-finding inquiry, which may include interviews with involved parties and the collection of relevant documentation. Students are expected to cooperate fully with the investigation. If a student or organization is found responsible for hazing, consequences may include disciplinary sanctions ranging from educational interventions and probation to suspension or expulsion, depending on the severity of the violation. In cases involving student organizations, penalties may also include the loss of campus privileges or revocation of University recognition. The University reserves the right to notify law enforcement when appropriate and will provide support resources to affected individuals throughout the process.

No Retaliation

Neither the University nor any other person may engage in retaliation against an individual because the individual has made a report or complaint or testified, assisted, participated, or refused to participate in any manner in an investigation, proceeding, or Hearing under this grievance procedure. Any person who believes that he or she has experienced retaliation which is prohibited by this grievance procedure may file a complaint or Formal Complaint with the Office of Student Affairs or the Department of Public Safety.

Inclement Weather Policy

Decisions about classes and office hours during times of uncertain weather conditions are based on:

1. Concern for the personal safety of students and staff;
2. Need to provide learning opportunities and services for students;
3. Significant resident population
4. Belief in the importance of personal choice and responsibility in individual decision-making.

The University has adopted the following procedures:

1. Should the administration make a decision to close operations for the day:

   - Notification of closure or class delay will be made through Cumberlands Emergency Notification System. To sign up for this system, please visit this link: http://www.ucumberlands.edu/alerts/. The University administration requires all faculty and staff who work on campus to enroll in the emergency notification system (ENS). This system enables UC to send urgent news to phone and email. In the event of an emergency, this system has the capability to send emails, text messages, and make phone calls to all that are registered to notify them of the situation. This is a free service and students, family and community members have the ability to enroll for it as well.

   - Digital Media – Notification will be posted through campus email, to the front page of the University website (ucumberlands.edu) and shared via university social media platforms including Facebook (facebook.com/ucumberlands), Instagram (@ucumberlands) and Twitter (@ucumberlands).

- The announcement will also be placed with the following TV stations WLEX (Lexington) WKYT (Lexington), and WYMT (Hazard) to be broadcast on their weather closings.

2. Should the administration decide not to close operations for the day:
   - Students, faculty, staff and other university employees will exercise their personal judgment about travel conditions and will be solely accountable for their choice.

   - Those who are unwilling or unable to allow extra time for travel or who are personally uncomfortable with the challenge, may choose to take a class cut or choose to take a day without pay or a vacation day. In all cases, employees must call in to their supervisors. Faculty and supervisors will use their best professional judgment in accommodating those personal decisions to ensure continuity of service. Faculty and supervisors have the responsibility for providing "service-as close-to-usual" as possible.

   - Supervisors of student employees are responsible for communicating with student employees in the event of a disruption in their work schedule due to inclement weather.

Regulations

Severe Weather
Tornado Watch means that conditions exist for a tornado to develop. Tornado Warning means that tornado has actually been sighted or indicated on radar.

NOTE: One clue that a tornado could develop is when a thunderstorm produces hail. The larger the hail stone, the more likely a tornado will occur. When a tornado warning is announced:

- The best protection is an underground shelter (or basement) or a substantial steel-framed or reinforced concrete building.
- If a residence hall or campus building has no basement, take cover under heavy furniture on the ground floor in the center of the building, or in a small room on the ground floor that is away from outside walls and windows.
- Stay away from windows to avoid flying debris.
- If you are outside and there isn't time to get into a building, take cover and lie flat in the nearest depression, such as a ditch, culvert, excavation or ravine.
- AVOID AUDITORIUMS AND GYMNASIUMS with large, poorly supported roofs. If you are in an all wood building, evacuate to a safer location.
- ADMINISTRATIVE OR CLASSROOM BUILDINGS – Go to an interior hallway on the lowest floor. Stay away from windows.

Emergency warning regarding tornados may be issued by:

1. Department of Safety and Security Staff Faculty Members
2. Residence Life Staff
3. Local Radio and Television Stations

Fire Drill Regulations
Every member of the University community should realize the responsibility for knowing what to do in case of a fire.
Upon entering any building, an occupant should immediately acquaint himself with fire escape routes and become familiar with the location of fire extinguishers.

Fire drills expedite the correct procedure to follow should a real fire occur. In the event of a fire drill, occupants should vacate the building as quickly as possible. Failure to evacuate the building during a fire may result in disciplinary action.

The most important thing to remember during a fire drill or an actual fire is to REMAIN CALM. Running and pushing can cause panic and confusion which may result in a deadly situation. Students should walk quietly to the nearest exit, then keep walking until theyare a safe distance from the building.

Use of fire extinguishers and alarms, except in cases of emergency, is strictly prohibited and may result in disciplinary action.

University Buildings

All University buildings at the Williamsburg Campus are closed in the evenings, except for the Library, Campus Center, Aquatic Center, and Wellness Center. Students should not enter buildings after 5:15 p.m. unless a building is open for classes or for special programs. Permission to use campus facilities must be obtained from the appropriate authority. The Florence campus is only accessible by card access or authorized access Monday-Friday until 10 pm unless otherwise approved.

University Facilities

UC's Ad Astra facilities scheduling platform combines events, academics, facilities, and resources into one central calendar to optimize room usage with enhanced analytics. Facility and event requests should be limited to programming that promotes an educational atmosphere on-campus or supports business operations of the University or both.

Faculty and staff may access UC's Ad Astra scheduling platform via their MyUC Login single sign-on portal.

General Guidelines

1. Faculty and staff may complete the appropriate facility request form located on UC's Ad Astra Homepage.
2. Upon submission of a completed form, the requestor will receive a confirmation that the request has been submitted. Confirmation of Submission is NOT an approval.
3. Requests will receive a timely response with a decision regarding submission through email.
4. After a facility request is approved, it is the requestor's responsibility to schedule all resources and/or services such as catering, communications/media, and facility requests from the appropriate University departments as has always been the case. Failure to do so will result in no resources provided.
5. Event requests may also request to be featured on UC Master Calendar by checking the appropriate box on the original request form.
6. Community requests to reserve UC facilities should be limited to programming that promotes an educational atmosphere on campus. Personal events are not eligible for approval, with the exception of pool rentals for birthdays or other youth groups. Requests must be submitted at least two weeks prior to the event: https://www.ucumberlands.edu/communityrequest

Terms of Reservation:

By submitting a facility request, the requestor agrees to the following terms and understandings:

Facilities MUST be cleaned and arranged in original form after the activity is concluded unless previous arrangements have been made with facilities (fees may apply). If no such arrangements have been made, future use of facilities may be denied and/or fines applied.

If the requestor cancels the event associated with this request, they assume responsibility for contacting any service providers associated with their request (audio-visual, custodial and facilities services) and notifying them of the cancellation. The requestor's department will be liable for any fees for services to those providers for cancellation without notification.

Event cancellations with catering services requested must contact Pioneer Food Services and adhere to their standards for cancellations and cost penalties.

By completing and submitting this Facility Reservation Form, it is confirmed that the requestor has read and committed their group/event to abide by all University of the Cumberlands policies and requirements as described in the UC Student Handbook under Regulations.

Primary contact for facilities and resources after request has been approved:

Facility and Resource Coordinators will remain primary contact for facilities and resources AFTER facility request form has been submitted & APPROVAL confirmation has been received.

Facility Coordinators receive daily and weekly updates of events scheduled in their areas and will continue all unlocking, caring, and coordinating activities that they have always practiced for events in their areas.

Personal Transportation Device Policy

Scooters, Skateboards, Hoverboards, and Similar Devices

The University supports the safe and responsible use of personal transportation devices on campus. This policy applies to motorized and non-motorized scooters, skateboards, hoverboards, and similar devices.

Where You May Ride

Personal transportation devices must be operated on campus streets, designated bike lanes, or marked shared-use paths.
Riding is not permitted:

- On sidewalks or in pedestrian-only areas
- Inside campus buildings
- Through building entrances or covered entryways
- In any area where riding could interfere with pedestrians or accessibility

When riding on campus streets, follow the same basic traffic rules as a bicycle. Obey stop signs, yield to pedestrians, travel with the direction of traffic, and remain alert for vehicles and other riders.

Speed Limits

The maximum speed is:

- 15 mph on campus roads
- 10 mph on designated shared-use paths

Riders should travel at a slower speed when conditions are crowded, wet, dark, or otherwise unsafe.

Parking and Storage

Devices must be parked only in approved locations.

- Electric scooters and similar electric devices must be secured at a bike rack.
- Bike racks are available for use throughout campus.
- Devices may not be parked on sidewalks, pathways, ramps, stairs, entrances, or other areas that could block pedestrian or disability access.
- Devices may not be stored in hallways, stairwells, classrooms, offices, residence hall common areas, or other unauthorized locations.
- Gas-powered devices must remain outdoors and be parked within a white-lined parking space in any campus lots assigned to your housing status. Commuters must use commuter lots, and residential students must use resident lots.

Improperly parked or stored devices may be removed or impounded, and the owner may receive a fine or other penalty.

Indoor Use and Charging

- Devices may not be ridden inside any University building.
- Electric devices must remain powered off while inside the building and may not block hallways, exits, stairwells, entrances, or accessibility routes.
- Devices may not be charged in an unsafe manner, left unattended while charging, or connected to damaged or unauthorized charging equipment.
- Gas-powered devices may not be brought inside University buildings.

Safety Expectations

Riders are expected to operate devices responsibly and remain aware of pedestrians, vehicles, and campus conditions.

Reckless riding is prohibited. Riders may not operate a device while under the influence of alcohol, illegal drugs, or any substance that affects their ability to ride safely.

In alignment with Kentucky law, the University strongly recommends that riders:

- Wear a properly fitted helmet
- Use lights and reflectors when riding at night or in low-visibility conditions
- Wear visible or reflective clothing when riding after dark

These precautions may not be required in every situation under state law, but they are strongly encouraged for the safety of riders and others.

Enforcement

University Public Safety is responsible for enforcing this policy.

Violations may result in:

- A warning
- A fine
- Removal or impoundment of the device
- Loss of permission to operate or store the device on campus
- Additional action under the Student Code of Conduct

Repeated or serious violations may result in the individual being prohibited from using a personal transportation device on University property.

Accessibility Exception

Individuals with disabilities may use wheelchairs, mobility scooters, and other approved mobility devices on sidewalks and inside campus buildings as needed to access University programs, services, and facilities.

The purpose of this policy is to protect riders, pedestrians, and drivers while keeping campus roads, sidewalks, entrances, and buildings safe and accessible for everyone.

Parking

Parking & Vehicle Registration

Oversight of parking policies, vehicle registration, permits, and citation disputes is managed by Parking Control through the Office of Public Safety. Parking violations and ticketing are enforced by the Office of Public Safety to help maintain a safe, orderly, and accessible campus environment.

For questions regarding vehicle registration, parking permits, citations, or citation appeals, please contact Parking Control within the Office of Public Safety.

Student Life

Student ID Cards

All students are issued a Student ID number at the time of their acceptance to admission. This ID number, along with each student's unique username and password, provides access to various student records and is used to confirm current enrollment. Student photo ID cards, including the student ID number are issued to all traditional undergraduate resident and commuter students, as well as to all on-campus graduate students. They are also available to dual-credit student, online students, and graduate students. Students are required to carry their student ID when on or around campus or participating and engaging in student activities.

Bookstore

The Bookstore carries course textbooks and additional materials for undergraduate and graduate courses offered by the University, including reference books and study aids. Textbooks may be available in a variety of formats including hardback, paperback, loose leaf, or digital formats, for purchase or rental, depending upon the course. We are also excited to announce that full-time undergraduate students taking in-person courses are eligible for the First Day® Complete (FDC) program. The FDC program provides eligible students required course texts at no additional cost to students as long as materials are returned at the end of the course. Additional course required material including, but not limited to kits, scrubs, lab coats, goggles, etc are not eligible for the FDC program and must be purchased separately.
For more information about the FDC program, please refer to additional publications from UC and Barnes & Noble College. Other items for sale include school spirit items, school supplies, art supplies, health and beauty aids, souvenirs, gift items, and apparel.

The Bookstore accepts all major credit cards, debit cards, and Barnes & Noble gift cards. As an additional convenience to students, most students are eligible to charge textbooks and class supplies to their student account by presenting their student ID at the time of an in-store purchase or online order. All purchases charged to student accounts are transferred to the student's permanent financial record in the Office of Student Accounts, at which time, they become subject to collections at that office.

At the end of each course textbook rentals (through the no-cost FDC program or by students in other programs) must be returned to the bookstore to avoid incurring additional fees. In the event that fees are charged for late or incomplete textbook returns, those charges would be transferred to the securing form of payment on the account (Student Account through FDC program, debit/ credit all other programs). For more information about Rental Terms, please refer to the Rental Terms & Agreement at www.cumber.bncollege.com.

Because of the value and expense of university textbooks, all students are encouraged to treat their textbooks as they would any other valuable personal property. Students are encouraged to permanently write their name in each textbook, which in no way decreases the value of the textbook or prevents the return of rental texts and may help in identification of the book if it is lost or stolen. Any lost or stolen textbooks should be reported immediately-to the Office of Student Affairs.

Campus Ministries & Outreach

Campus Ministries serves as an umbrella for several campus organizations designed to encourage spiritual growth for students. All students are welcome to participate in Campus Ministries' programming regardless of their denominational affiliation or faith background. All ministries promote Christian beliefs and practices.

Appalachian Ministries (AM) engages children in the local community for Christ by providing weekly programming in partnership with local churches. AM students develop and lead a weekly program that includes Bible lessons, craft, snack, and music. In addition to programming throughout the academic year, AM offers a summer missionary team that equips students with real-life ministry skills.

Campus Ministries (CM) exists to engage students with the hope of Jesus Christ and equip them for a life of obedience to the Lord. Students serving in CM develop critical ministry and leadership skills based on biblical principles and are given opportunities to practice these skills in settings unique to their passions and giftings. CM seeks to enrich experiential learning through activities such as campus worship, prayer meetings, mentorship, Bible studies, community groups, mission trips, cultural diversity programming, and services projects.

Fellowship of Christian Athletes (FCA) serves as a point of connection for student athletes to develop community and explore their faith. Bi-weekly meetings seek to encourage athletes through a time of fellowship followed by biblical teaching and group discussion. FCA also seeks to engage student athletes in their context by developing team-specific student-led Bible studies.

Mountain Outreach is a practical needs ministry designed to engage Southeastern Kentucky through showing the love of Christ. Students serving in MO receive hands-on training in meeting both the physical and spiritual needs of their neighbors. Opportunities include home repair, adding accessibility features such as ramps to homes, partnership with other community organizations, and engagement in disaster relief efforts.

All campus ministry programs are supported by educated and experienced university staff members, in partnership with local churches and student leaders, who are devoted to helping students grow in their faith and serve others. It is the policy of the University to refer any report of a missing student to the Williamsburg Police Department within 24 hours of its receipt by the University if the student is not found in that period.

The student's emergency contact will be notified by university personnel as needed following a report that the student may be missing.

If the student reported as missing is under 18 years of age and not emancipated, the University will also notify a custodial parent or guardian within this 24-hour period.

The University reserves the right to notify additional individuals or authorities at its discretion, including the parents or guardians of students over 18 years of age if a student is determined to be missing, and the University believes there is an imminent threat to the health and safety of the student or of others and that the notification will assist in their protection.

Students are not permitted to use their own pest control products in the residence halls; pest control products should only be used by qualified professionals.

Precautions and preventative measures are the responsibility of the student to control pests in university housing. These measures include following the Health and Safety Inspection Standards as they relate to cleanliness and food storage, as well as reporting maintenance issues such as damaged windows or holes in walls and ceilings.

Illness

Students living in university housing should inform the Residence Life Staff of illness, injury, or accidents. Under normal circumstances, illness does not require isolating or temporary removal from the student's assigned room. However, certain illnesses, including COVID-19, may require isolation or temporary relocation of housing. When this is the case, the student is required to comply with all instructions given by university personnel.

Quiet Hours

Reasonable volume within the residence halls, apartments and surrounding areas (porches, parking lots, etc.) is expected at all times. Students are expected to be courteous to fellow residents concerning noise levels at all times of the day. To provide a place conducive to study, quiet hours are as follows:

- Sunday through Thursday from 9:00pm until 9:00am
- Friday and Saturday from 11:00pm until 9:00am
- During Finals week, 24-hour quiet hours is in effect, beginning Sunday of week 8 each biterm and runs until the residence hall closes each term.

During quiet hours, noise from conversations, televisions, computers, instruments, speakers, etc. should be contained within the room. Amplification of sound inside a building or vehicle should be at a volume which does not cause those outside the room or automobile to hear the sound.

Maintaining quiet hours in the residence hall is the responsibility of each resident as well as the Residence Life staff. Students who create unnecessary noise or disturbances may receive disciplinary sanctions, including monetary fines, community service, and/or remove from residential housing.

Outside of the quiet hours listed above, students are expected to maintain a reasonable volume while in or around University buildings. Excessive or offensive noise which causes a disruption to the community may receive disciplinary sanctions regardless of the time of day.

Storage

Students are permitted to store certain items between the Spring and Fall terms only with prior approval from Residence Life, and only if sufficient space is available. To facilitate the use of the storage areas and for the safekeeping of student's possessions, students are expected to comply with the storage room regulations, which will be made available on the Housing Portal towards the end of the Spring semester. Students store possessions at their own risk. The university is not responsible for any lost or damaged items. Personal items that are stored and not collected before the end of the second week of class in the Fall semester may be disposed of without notice to the student. Additionally, personal items stored inappropriately, or without the approval of Residence Life, are subject to removal.

Student Property Insurance

University insurance does not cover the personal belongings of staff or students due to fire, water, vandalism, theft, or any other means of loss. The University is not liable for loss or damage caused by employees in the performance of their duties. Students are strongly encouraged to obtain personal property insurance on their personal property. Some homeowner's policies already afford this type of coverage for students temporarily residing in campus housing. Students who are not covered under a homeowner's policy, or whose policy does not provide coverage away from home, may want to purchase a policy through an insurer such as National Student Affairs, Inc., with information available at www. nssi.com. The University does not endorse this or any other property insurance program, but recommends that resident students consider some type of personal property protection.

Underage Persons

No persons under the age of 18 may visit a residential space unless accompanied by a parent, legal guardian, or authorized University personnel without prior approval from Residence Life staff, and is to be reserved only for short visits with a residential student or to assist with the move-in and move-out process.

Childcare of any kind in residential spaces is prohibited at all times.

Vending Machines

Vending machines are located in all men's and women's residence halls. Please report any problem with a vending machine in a residence hall to a Residence Life Staff member. Tampering with vending machines is prohibited, and will result in fines and other sanctions.
